GILBERT W. FOX IS MURDERED IN MERAMEC SHACK

Fact of Killing Last Friday
Near Robertsville, Mo.
Disclosed When His Funeral Is Held Today.

ROBBERY MOTIVE HIS MOTHER THINKS

He Had Been Living Alone
a Year Recuperating
From an Attack of Tropical Fever.

Gilbert W. Fox, 40-year-old son of Mrs. Gilbert H. Fox, president of the Board of Religious Organizations, was murdered at his shack on the Meramec River near Robertsville, Mo., last Friday evening. This became known here today when his funeral was held. Fox had been living in the shack for about a year, recuperating from tropical fever contracted during a trip through Central America.

Officers of Franklin County, in which Robertsville is situated, are convinced Fox was shot from ambush by a robber or robbers. A coroner's verdict of death from a gunshot wound at the hands of parties unknown, was returned yesterday at Robertsville, after Sheriff Gorg and Prosecuting Attorney Jenny had concluded an investigation which began Saturday afternoon, after the body had been found.

Earned Money as a Trapper. Fox, who earned some money by trapping fur-bearing animals and selling them to dealers in St. Louis, had returned Friday evening from a trip to the city, during which he sold about $50 worth of skins. Prosecuting Attorney Jenny said he had learned.

"He stopped at Robertsville about 7 o'clock Friday evening, bought a few supplies from the grocery and departed for his place on the river," Jenny said. "The next morning, about 10 o'clock, a prospector discovered Fox had forgotten some bread he bought and asked two boys who live near him to take it over Saturday afternoon."

"The boys arrived there about 2 p. m. Saturday and found Fox's body lying on the floor with a gunshot wound in the right side of his head. He had been shot the night before, no doubt, for the supplies he bought had not been touched and there were no indications that he had made a fire in the stove to cook."

"Apparently Fox had been killed with his own shotgun. We found the gun in a room adjoining that in which the body lay, with the shell discharged. Indications were that he was shot just outside the door and his body dragged into the shack. The only door used as an entrance was locked with a key from the outside."

"Because of the isolated location of the shack, we could find no one who had heard a shot. The family owning the farm on which the shack is situated lives some distance away."

Only 15 Cents in Pocket. Prosecutor Jenny said Fox was well liked in the community. He was a tall fellow, who had no enemies, according to Jenny. In Fox's pockets when he was found was 15 cents. His clothing apparently had been searched.

Mrs. Fox was convinced that robbery was the motive for killing her son. He had gone to Robertsville to live because a physician had ordered him to remain outdoors as much as possible, to recover from the aftermath of the fever. He had frequently visited friends living in the locality in which he was killed, since he was 16 years old, Mrs. Fox said.

The shack in which Fox had been living is in the foothills of the Meramec, about 45 miles west of St. Louis. The Meramec at that point is a favorite spot of bathers during the warm months, and they used the shack as a dressing room.

The funeral was held today from mortuary at 4443 Olive street. Fox is survived by his mother, Mrs. Fox, a brother and four sisters: Mrs. Leslie Klein, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. Horace Foote and Mrs. Leslie Meyer. Mrs. Fox had been active in religious organizations and was prominent in the campaign for equal suffrage.

LATIN AMERICANS DEMAND BETTER MOTION PICTURES

Delegates Ask Havana Congress for Action to Promote Interests and Safeguard Feelings.

U. S. WOULD AMEND FLYING DRAFT TREATY

Proposals Deal With Prohibited Areas, Especially Canal Zone; Projects for Tribunal.

By the Associated Press. HAVANA, Jan. 24.—The motion picture industry in America today was under the scrutiny of the Pan-American Congress.

Apparently voicing the feelings of other delegates, the delegation from Salvador presented a resolution, dealing with the films, to the Committee on Intellectual Cooperation. The resolution asks that more care be exercised in making films for Latin America showing so that they will not offend.

Hector Castro, of Salvador, in presenting the resolution, urged the members to support it not only to safeguard their own interests and feelings, but also to bring about production of pictures which would more truly typify Latin America.

Air Treaty Amendments. Henry P. Fletcher, American Ambassador to Italy and member of the American delegation to the conference, today brought before the Committee of Communications amendments to the proposed commercial aviation treaty. These amendments provide for granting to signatory countries the right to agree among themselves as to what zones shall be prohibited to civil aviation, and excepting from the provisions of the convention only military and government controlled aviation lines.

The suggested changes would alter the treaty in one important respect, that, whereas, under the original clauses, any plane engaged in postal, customs, police or other governmental service, whether privately owned or not, was exempt from the terms of the treaty, now only "aircraft owned, controlled and operated by the contracting state" in connection with these services are exempt.

The American delegation points out that article five of the treaty had already reserved the right of all governments to define prohibited zones for aviation.

Interpretations Given. Latin American delegates interpret the first amendment as an effort on the part of the United States to avoid any possible future discussions regarding the sovereignty of the Panama Canal Zone and the Guantanamo naval base. They argue that if the United States declared the Panama Canal Zone and Guantanamo prohibited areas, the republics of Panama and Cuba might raise the point as to the right of the United States to do so. As now worded these zones could be declared prohibited by common consent of the parties concerned.

The Fletcher amendments do not include discrimination as between National and foreign privately owned planes as regards the right to fly over the prohibited zones, which had been expected by the Latin American delegates. Thus far the proposals have been received favorably, although the delegates are reserving judgment for closer study. After a brief discussion, the problem was put over for further consideration.

The draft treaty includes a complete code covering international commercial aviation, defining flying rights and the formalities to be followed.

Article one establishes the sovereignty of every country over the air above it, after declaring that planes belonging to commercial companies in the contracting governments will have the right of free passage over each other's territory. Another article adds that this passage may be prohibited in case of a noncontracting government.

Transportation of arms and explosives by private planes is expressly prohibited by the draft convention and even the carriage of photographic apparatus may be prohibited at the will of the governments. In addition, it is provided that, for reasons of public safety or order, any country may restrict the articles which planes may carry over the country's territory.

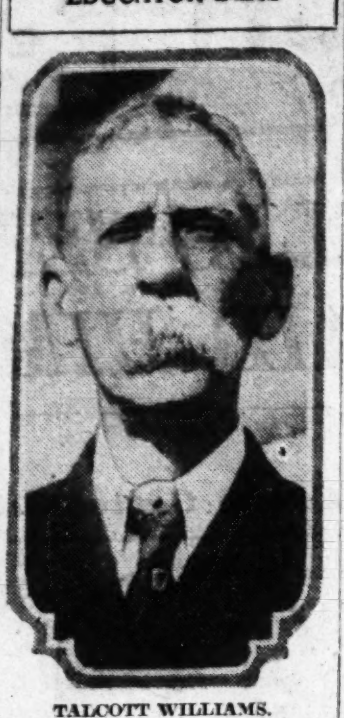

The power is left with the individual governments of restricting in favor of their own air lines the privilege of foreign planes to carry passengers and merchandise between two or more points within their territory. The treaty provides, however, that, if essential in international service, foreign planes shall not be required to pay higher charges at airports than national ones.

One clause states that, while planes are subject to the laws and tribunals of the countries they traverse, for crimes or irregularities aboard a plane in flight, the laws of the country of registration of the machine will be valid.

An exception terminates the validity of the treaty in case of war in so far as the freedom of action of the belligerents is concerned.

presented before the International Public Law Committee, a project for a Pan-American Tribunal, to be located at Havana, with jurisdiction over differences which might arise between American nations, with the exception of those questions involving constitutional rights.

The Tepez plan envisages an international tribunal, composed of leading jurists from all 21 American republics covering a period of six years. Half of the jurists would function as the principal judges, the others as advisers or assistants.

Cuba's proposal for the establishment within the Pan-American Union of a commission for conciliation of inter-American disputes has met scant encouragement. Jacca Vazquez, Uruguayan delegate to the Pan-American Union Committee, opposed changes in the nonpolitical character of the union. The difficulties which would confront such a step were, he said, "the preservation of the rights of self-determination; difficulties barring the way to the harmonizing of new obligations with adherence to other international institutions, the League of Nations for example; unwillingness to submit new matters already in process of settlement by arbitration; and the conviction that only by unanimous and enthusiastic accord of members can a project of such magnitude be successfully realized."

The Cuban proposals would confer the functions of the Pan-American Union into something resembling those of the League of Nations.

Establishing as a duty of the Pan-American Union the determination of causes of inter-American conflicts and effecting their solution "through authorized mediums."

Making the union the depository for all treaties, protocols and conventions subscribed to by member nations, and permanent establishment of the seat of the union at Washington.

tion, he proceeded to New York, and at Sinclair's office received the remaining $35,000 which was due.

"Did you get that from him personally, too?" "Oh, yes, I think it must have been from him personally."

On the occasion of the first payment in Sinclair's private car, Everhart said he offered Sinclair a certificate for one-third interest in the oil magnate's estate, and the other papers away, saying: "Oh, just deliver them over at the New York office."

Got $35,000 More in "Loans." Persistent cross-examination by Walsh elicited that, in addition to the $223,000 in bonds, Everhart afterward received two "loans" totaling $35,000 from Sinclair. Both "loans" were in cash. Everhart did not know whether the "loans" had been repaid.

In the autumn of 1922 Everhart again saw Sinclair, this time at Sinclair's ranch at Three Rivers, N. M., and obtained from him a cash "loan" of $10,000.

Two months later, he saw Sinclair at the Wardman Park Hotel in Washington, and got from him another cash "loan" of $25,000.

The main purpose of the inquiry now is to discover who got $2,770,000 in Liberty bonds which remained to the bogus Continental Trading Co., after $230,500 worth had been forwarded to former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, apparently as a bribe for having secured the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve to Harry F. Sinclair.

The Continental was a fake corporation, organized in Canada for the evident purpose of accumulating a large secret corruption fund. Among those involved in its operations were Sinclair, Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana; James E. O'Neill, head of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co. and H. M. Blackmer, head of the Midwest Refining Co. Blackmer and O'Neill fled to Europe to avoid testifying in the oil trials, and have defied every effort to get them back.

On previous occasions Everhart refused to testify on the ground of self-incrimination. Since then, however, Congress has passed a law to remove this obstacle.

TALCOTT WILLIAMS NOTED TEACHER OF JOURNALISM, DIES

First Head of the Pulitzer School at Columbia University Retired Several Years Ago.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Talcott Williams, former head of the Pulitzer School of Journalism at Columbia University, died today. He was 79 years old.

Dr. Williams had been ill for some time, and ten days ago was injured in a fall. As a result of the fall he contracted bronchial pneumonia, which was the immediate cause of death.

He came to New York to assume the directorship of the school of Journalism which it was founded in 1912, after 31 years of service on the Philadelphia Press. He successfully brought the school through its first seven years of existence, leaving it one of the foremost schools of journalism in the country. He became director emeritus in 1919.

Dr. Williams was born at Abeth, Turkey, the son of an American missionary. He was graduated from Amherst College, and later received honorary degrees from a number of colleges and universities.

He began his newspaper work on the staff of the New York World in 1897. After four years he became Washington correspondent for the New York Sun and San Francisco Chronicle. Before going on the staff of the Philadelphia Press, he served two years as an editorial writer for the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

He is survived by his widow, the former Sophia Wells of Albion, N. Y.

Funeral services probably will be held at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in St. Paul's chapel, on Columbia University campus.

Dr. Williams belonged to numerous societies for the promotion of the teaching of journalism and philosophy. He was trustee and vice president of the Woman's College at Constantinople and a trustee of Amherst College. He had a part in the editing of many encyclopedias and was a prolific contributor to journals devoted to the arts and sciences, in which he was especially interested.

MAN WHO PLANNED TO END LIFE SENT HOME BY JUDGE

George Winkler, 27-year-old laborer who was arrested for carrying concealed weapons three weeks ago as he stood at the corner of Broadway and Russell avenue, contemplating suicide, was sent back to his wife and two children at Quincy, Ill., today, a free man.

Although he had pleaded guilty, Circuit Judge Roscoe today asked Assistant Circuit Attorney Leedom to nolle prosequi the charge then presented Winkler with $7 collected from court attaches and told him to go home. Winkler had explained that he had found the empty revolver discovered by police in his pocket. A note in which he had told his wife he intended to end his life was also found in his pocket.

Ining by reading a review of the evidence in the civil suits over Teapot Dome. He recited the known history of the Continental Trading Co., how it accumulated a synthetic profit of $2,000,000 through a deal in which the oil men apparently bought oil and sold it to their own companies at a profit of 25 cents a barrel, and the money was invested in Liberty bonds, $230,500 of which later found their way to the pockets of Fall and Everhart.

The scene was transferred almost hourly from Justice Sweeney's courtroom, where Sinclair, William J. Burns and four associates have been on trial, charged with jury tampering. Virtually all the defense lawyers, led by Marshall W. Littleton and George Hoover, were in attendance, as were Mason Day and Sheldon Clark, Sinclair's subordinate, who are on trial with their chief. A total of nine Sinclair lawyers were counted in the room. The Sinclair retinue appeared to compose a majority of the spectators.

Similar to scene in 1924. The scene was reminiscent of the stirring days of 1924, when Washington buzzed with scandal and rumors of scandal. On the other hand, the committee table presented many new faces.

Presiding was the youthful Senator Nye, Progressive Republican of New Dakota, who has succeeded the late, old guardsmen, Smoot of Utah, as chairman. Of the original committee there, only Smith's friend, Wagner, of New York; McNary (Rep.), Oregon; Bratton (Dem.), New Mexico; Asbury (Dem.), Arizona, and Cutting (Rep.), New Mexico.

The resumption of the inquiry resulted principally from the publication in the Post-Dispatch of news stories pointing out that the bonds received were a solved mystery, and that neither the Department of Justice nor President Coolidge had taken any action toward tracing them. When this condition was called to the attention of Senator Norris (Rep.) of Nebraska, he introduced a resolution, which the Senate adopted, calling for the present inquiry by the Public Lands Committee.

Walsh asked whether the entire utility industry, the industry of the officer of Old Colony Trust Co. of Boston, who appeared here last week. The public has not so much protection from banking and investment houses as he indicated, for who would question the Union Trust Co. of Pittsburgh, which handled these securities?

Walsh also read into the record a four-page letter from Owen D. Young of the General Electric Co., in which Young stood by the direct quotations in his authorized investigation with Basil Manly (which appeared in the Post-Dispatch), but pointed out that he was in favor of an investigation only after specific charges had been made against specific companies.

Young stated that if the special Senate Committee did investigate the entire utility industry, the inquiry should be confined to interstate transmission of power and to those securities dealt in through the mails.

For the first time, Walsh consented to a limitation on the scope of the proposed investigation. By an amendment, written by Walsh, operating companies doing an exclusive intra-state business would be excluded from the inquiry. The text of his amendment was as follows:

"Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize the committee to inquire into the affairs of any operating corporation engaged exclusively in intra-state business, not being a subsidiary of, or whose stock is not held or operations are not controlled to some extent by another corporation."

Makes Change in Resolution. Walsh agreed to strike out the word "direct" in the resolution so that it would read that the committee was "authorized" to make their investigation.

Walsh made this compromise after Senator Harry B. Hawes (Dem.), Missouri, had questioned the only witness who appeared before the committee today, James M. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, who argued against the resolution.

Emery was the lobbyist involved in the famous Muhlthall tariff lobby scandal during the first term of the Wilson administration. Muhlthall, who had been his agent, confessed before Senate and House committees concerning the activities of the tariff lobby.

Emery stated that he and the interests he represented opposed Walsh's testimony on the ground that it was too general in scope and violated the first and fourth amendments to the Constitution, in that it purported to inquire into the "private affairs of citizens, individuals and corporate."

Walsh objected to his testimony on the ground that every resolution adopted by the Senate and the House was subject to the authority of the committee. The Montana Senator said that if any witness before the committee questioned the authority of the committee, he could refuse to testify and take his case to court.

"Just as Sinclair did," he added significantly.

Hawes Questions Witness. Hawes stated that he thought Emery's testimony "very pertinent," and proceeded to quiz the witness. He asked Emery if he thought the resolution authorized a special Senate committee to investigate the business of small electric power companies, doing an exclusive intrastate business. For his own purposes, Hawes assumed this small company was at Center, Mo. Emery answered that the resolution certainly authorized an investigation of the company.

It was while Hawes was developing this thought that Walsh asked if the committee would favor the provision excluding operating corporations doing an exclusively intra-state business. After Walsh had read his amendment, Hawes said: "It is certainly a great improvement. This is the first step."

Chairman Watson asked whether Walsh would consider an amendment to strike out the in-

Senator Reads Post-Dispatch Editorial to Committee in Support of Resolution for Investigation.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT. A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—In support of his argument for an investigation of the electric power and utility industries, Senator Thomas J. Walsh (Dem.) of Montana today read to the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, the editorial, "What Happened to Laclede," which appeared in the Post-Dispatch last week. Walsh offered this editorial as specific evidence of the pyramid of the financing of the holding companies in the utility industry.

"I introduce this editorial as evidence that the common stocks of the operating companies are used as the basis for the issuance of holding company securities," Walsh said. "I call the committee's attention to this condition and ask it to consider it in connection with the testimony of the officer of Old Colony Trust Co. of Boston, who appeared here last week. MRS. MARY S. CONDIE GETS DIVORCE AND $250 A MONTH

Wife of Paint Firm Official Says He Refused to Take Her Along on Moving to Kansas City.

By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 24.—Mrs. Mary S. Condie obtained a divorce today from Clarence W. Condie of Kansas City, vice president of the Condie-Bray Glass & Paint Co., 2500 North Broadway, on the ground of general indignity. She received $250 a month alimony. She alleged Condie refused to take her with him when he moved to Kansas City several years ago. They were married in 1902.

They have two children, Virginia, 23 years old, a student at Kansas City, and Clarence D., 20, who resides with his mother at 5323 Delmar boulevard.

Investigation of campaign contributions. Walsh objected to this, however, stating that he did not think that the investigating committee should be so limited.

"I think you can safely trust to the good sense and the judgment of the committee," he declared. Senator Sackett (Rep.) of Kentucky, asked Walsh whether his proviso excluded holding companies, such as the Consolidated Gas Co. of New York, which serve the consumers of only one State.

George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the joint committee of the National Utility Associations, the giant power lobby opposing the Walsh resolution, is the head of this company.

Walsh replied that he did not think that such holding companies as the Consolidated should be excluded, principally because their securities were on the New York Stock Exchange and other markets. He stated that he did not want such holding companies definitely excluded from the scope of the resolution because their operations might throw light on similar holding companies serving consumers in many States.

"It may be that they will serve as a guide," he declared. "And if such witnesses object to the inquiry, they can ask the courts to decide as to the jurisdiction of the investigating committee."

PILOT SAYS MAN JUMPED FROM HIS PLANE TO DEATH

Declares He Twice Dissuaded Instructor From Leaping Overboard Near Macon, Ga., Field.

By the Associated Press. MACON, Ga., Jan. 24.—While spectators on the ground, anticipating a circus feat, waited for a parachute to open, Grantland Irwin, 50 years old, of Birmingham, Ala., plunged to his death from an airplane 1200 feet in the air yesterday afternoon.

Jack Ashcraft, veteran pilot, who was at the controls of the ship, declared after bringing his plane to earth that Irwin's plunge came after two previous attempts to leap from the flying airplane, from each of which Ashcraft said he dissuaded him.

"It's all over now," the pilot quoted Irwin as saying just before he made his third attempt, which hurled his body to the Central of Georgia tracks at Terra Cotta station, near here.

Those who witnessed the tragedy from the ground declared the plane was doing spectacular dives and loops, and that it was during these maneuvers they saw the body of Irwin start suddenly toward the ground. They expected a parachute to open and bring him safely down, they said.

After relating Irwin's attempt to leap, and his final successful plunge, he knew nothing more of the occurrence, Ashcraft said. The pilot brought his ship down in a nearby field and directed the removal of the body to an undertaking establishment.

Irwin came to Macon recently as an instructor, accompanied by Everett Woodmansee of Sabon, O., whose plane Ashcraft was testing when the tragedy occurred. Ashcraft has held a pilot's license for 10 years.

FAMILY OF 7 DROWNED IN AUTO AFTER CRASH

Parents and Children Plunged Off Bridge Following Collision With Motorcycle.

By the Associated Press.
NORWICH, Conn., Jan. 24.—A family of seven persons was drowned here yesterday after their automobile had collided with the motorcycle and had plunged off the bridge into the Shetucket River 35 feet below.

Those killed were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Whitaker of this city, and their five children ranging in age from 16 years to six months. Harrison Preston, 19, also of Norwich, was taken to a hospital suffering with lacerations.

Firemen and policeman recovered the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker, and of three of the children.

The machine was raised to the level of the water by a derrick. As it reached the surface, the body of Mrs. Whitaker with her six-month-old infant clamped in her arm, floated under car.

Woman Saved From Drowning.

The effort of Miss Marie Bischoff, 29 years old, of 3492 Wyoming street, to drown herself in the Mississippi River at the foot of Sidney street yesterday afternoon was thwarted by Robert Meyers of 2567 South Second street, who waded into the river and rescued her.

At City Hospital it was discovered that Miss Bischoff, who had been in ill health, had become deranged. She was turned over to her parents.

BREWER TESTIFIES FOR U. S. AT TRIAL OF HEBER NATIONS

R. B. Griesedieck Tells of Paying Charles S. Prather
Who in Turn Says He Split With Defendant.

EX-OFFICIALS' VISITS TO CITY ARE SHOWN

Hotel Registers Identified by Clerks to Prove Presence
When Alleged Payments
Were Made.

Raymond B. Griesedieck, brewer, and Charles S. Prather, former State Food and Drug Commissioner, testified this afternoon in the second trial of Heber Nations, former State Labor Commissioner, before Federal Judge Davis, on the charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead law.

They gave the same testimony which they gave in Nations' first trial nearly three years ago, to the effect that they engaged with Nations in a conspiracy for profits in the manufacture and sale of beer, at the rate of $1 a case. Griesedieck dealt wholly with Prather, who told him of Nations' alleged part in the matter, and Prather testified directly to Nations' connection, declaring that he paid Nations two-thirds of all the money received by him from Griesedieck.

Clerks Identify Signatures.
Before Griesedieck testified, registers of the Jefferson and Claridge hotels were introduced, and clerks identified the signatures of Nations and Prather, on dates in 1923 and 1924, corresponding with the Government's list of the times beer was sent out by Griesedieck, and the "pay-off" to Prather was made.

Griesedieck said he was told first by Louis J. Gundon, a prohibition agent, that Heber Nations wished him to get in touch with Prather, and that he found Prather in a room at the Jefferson Hotel, the number of which Gundon had given him. He said:

Tells of Accepting Proposal.
"Prather told me he could arrange, through Heber, for me to put out beer. I asked what the 'arrangement' would be, and he said it was a case. I said that was pretty good. I asked what Nations didn't deal with me personally, and Prather said, 'The reason is that Heber doesn't want to be dealing with more than one brewery. If anything happens, he wants to be dealing with just one.' I told Prather I would think it over, and at a meeting two weeks later, I accepted the proposal, and we went forward at $1 a case.

"I would get in touch with Prather, or he with me, and he would tell me when to 'go,' usually the next day, and I would tell him when I was ready to 'deal,' usually the following day. I would meet him at the Jefferson or the Claridge and pay him off. It was usually $1000 or more, and once as high as $1100."

The witness said he kept no memorandum of amounts or dates. He told of telephone calls to Prather at Jefferson City and Kansas City.

Planned to Shift Dry Men.
Griesedieck quoted Prather as saying that Heber Nations had told Prather he would cause his brother, Gus O. Nations, then in charge of prohibition enforcement, to have his men in St. Louis, on days when beer was to be sent out by the brewery.

"Prather said," he testified, "that Heber told him he got Gus his job and that he controlled Gus, who was only a kid, anyhow."

FORMER STUDENT IS ACQUITTED OF ROBBERY CHARGE

H. E. Threkeld, Establishes Alibi With Fraternity
Brothers at Washington
U. Supporting It.

A jury this afternoon acquitted Henry E. Threkeld, former Washington University student and athlete, of robbery in the first degree before Circuit Judge Rutledge. He was charged with holding up a woman and her companion, and stealing 90 cents in cash and a check for $65.

Threkeld's former classmates and fraternity brothers, who testified he was attending a fraternity bridge party at the time of the robbery, surged about him and shook his hands after the announcement of the verdict. Threkeld, who was barred from the university following his arrest in the basement of a South St. Louis residence, has a charge of burglary pending against him in connection with this escape, which he has never been able to explain—even, he says, to himself. The complaining witness in this case, however, has left the city, and it is likely Threkeld will never be tried on the charge.

The State had based its case only on the identification of Threkeld by a woman victim of the holdup and the testimony of another woman, a convicted bootlegger, that Threkeld was in the neighborhood at the time of the holdup.

Former Classmates Testify.
Against this testimony the defense offered the statements of fellow students that Threkeld was at a fraternity smoker in the West End on the night of the robbery, and the additional statement of a student's mother who declared that she also saw Threkeld at the smoker.

Mrs. Sadie Thomas, the complaining witness, told the jury that on Feb. 23, 1927, the night of the robbery, she alighted from a motor car at Kingshighway boulevard and Southwest avenue, about 11:30 o'clock, accompanied by her sister, Miss Margaret Airis.

As they started toward the Airis home at 2137 Maury avenue, she testified, she noticed that a Ford coupe pulled away from a barbecue stand at the corner, was driven about 100 feet east from Kingshighway and was stopped by its driver, who got out and began to examine a rear tire.

Woman Identifies Prisoner.
Mrs. Thomas testified that when she and her sister came alongside the machine the man straightened up, commanded them to halt and brandishing a wrench, said, "Stick 'em up. I want your money." Miss Airis fainted. Mrs. Thomas was robbed of a purse containing 90 cents in cash and a check for $65. Mrs. Thomas was positive, she said, that the robber was Threkeld. He sat impassive as she identified him.

Anna Schmidt, who operates the barbecue stand from which the coupe was driven, testified that Threkeld had stopped there for a sandwich, a few minutes before the robbery. She said she could not be mistaken about the identity, whereas Jasper Vetter, defense counsel, asked:

"Is it not a fact that 15 days later you checked the price of your stand, saying that the man you had identified was again outside your place and that when he was arrested it was not Threkeld, after all?"

Witness a Liquor Violator.
"I don't recall," Mrs. Schmidt answered, and would give no more positive answer. On cross-examination she admitted she had been convicted of violation of the Volstead act.

For the defense, Harvey Benz of 3214 Wyoming street, testified that Threkeld, who was something of a conspicuous figure because of his prowess at the low hurdles, was at a smoker at the Psi Delta fraternity house on the night of the robbery.

Alibi for Threkeld.
As to the milk bill, the committee decided to discuss it in detail with Commissioner Starkloff on Thursday, after President Neun of the Board of Aldermen declared he could see no argument against it. The measure would bar from the city milk not coming from tuberculin-tested cows, except that it would not apply to pasteurized milk for a year.

Alderman Lange, who is in the condensed milk business, using pasteurized milk, said he favored the bill, but wanted the exemption period increased to two years. Alderman Studt also wanted the extension. Commissioner Starkloff said that seemed fair.

MONEY FOR FIRE ESCAPES AT BOONVILLE WAS DIVERTED

Legislative Appropriation for That Purpose Applied to Making Other Repairs.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—Lack of fire escapes on the hospital building at the Missouri Reformatory at Boonville, which was destroyed by fire last Friday with the loss of one life, was due to the diversion to other purposes of funds appropriated by the 1927 Legislature for the installation of fire escapes on the reformatory buildings, it was learned today.

Joseph St. James, 16-year-old Negro of Clayton, a patient in the hospital, was burned to death. There were no fire escapes. Six other patients escaped by stairways or by jumping from windows.

The Legislature set aside $6000 for repair of the reformatory buildings and the installation of fire escapes without the money. Gov. Baker released $4000 of the appropriation and held up $2000 until funds should become available in the State Treasury. In such circumstances it has been customary to carry on all of the proposed work in the proportion of the amount released, to the full appropriation. The holding up of the $2000 by the Governor does not explain the failure to install the fire escapes, as a record of expenditures against the appropriation, compiled today by the penitentiary, shows that $2000 was expended.

This virtually exhausts the full appropriation. The expenditure of the $2000 was made under the former penitentiary, headed by Dr. Carter J. Enloe, who was succeeded by A. H. Harrison last Sept. 5.

CRANE MAN IS ELECTROCUTED

Charles Spicuzza, well-to-do merchant, Maroney mentioned today by name as having taken part in the Palazzolo killing and named Pasquale Santino, who was murdered last Nov. 17, as a witness to the shooting.

Demand Death Penalty.
Prosecutor Maroney told the jury over the objections of defense counsel that Dittapant, Cataldo and Santino had all been killed and thus their testimony was lost to the State's case. He added that the State would expect the death penalty for Calico.

The first witness offered by the prosecution was Dr. T. L. Carriere, Coroner's autopsy physician. He testified briefly as to the 12 bullet wounds in Palazzolo's body.

Story of Eyewitness.
One of the eyewitnesses was Edward Stagoski of 5730 Amelia avenue, salesman in the store kept by his father at 1603 Franklin avenue. He testified that on the morning of the murder he was crossing the intersection of Tenth and Wash streets diagonally from the southeast to the northwest corner.

"As I got in the middle of the street," he related, "I heard pistol shots so loud they made my ears hurt. I felt a sting in my right ear and ducked. Two men passed me. They were walking toward a third man on the sidewalk and shooting at him. The third man ran a few steps and fell. The others walked on."

Five other fraternity members gave the same testimony. One of them, Carl Schrader, testified that he was ill on the night of the robbery and confined to his room in the fraternity house and that Threkeld visited him several times.

Mrs. Richard Schrader, his mother, testified she visited the house that night to see her son and spoke to Threkeld at the door as she left, between 11:15 and 11:30.

TELLS OF SEEING GUNMEN SHOOT DOWN PALAZZOLO

Testimony in the trial of Ralph Calico, one of nine men under indictment for the murder of Alphonse Palazzolo, Italian feudist and gangster, began late today before Circuit Judge Kilgore. The courtroom was jammed and unusual police precautions were taken to prevent disorder.

Outlining the State's case against Calico, Assistant Circuit Attorney Maroney said two eyewitnesses to the Palazzolo murder would be produced who saw Calico shoot Palazzolo near Tenth and Wash streets last Sept. 9. He did not name the witnesses but one is Alexander Weber, a Negro shoe shiner.

Directly Accuses Calico.
Calico, Prosecutor Maroney declared, was one of four men who shot Palazzolo to death in front of a sugar warehouse owned by Dominic Cataldo and Tony Dittapant. These Italians who were under indictment for complicity in the murder, were assassinated last Thursday night at the home of Charles Spicuzza, well-to-do merchant. Maroney mentioned today by name as having taken part in the Palazzolo killing and named Pasquale Santino, who was murdered last Nov. 17, as a witness to the shooting.

MOVE TO DISCLOSE BOND HOLDINGS OF SENATORS

Resolution by Frazier of North Dakota Also Calls for Inventory of President's Stocks.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—A public inventory of the stock and bond holdings of the President of the United States, all Cabinet officers, all Senators and Representatives would be authorized under a joint resolution introduced in the Senate today by Senator Frazier (Rep.) of North Dakota.

The resolution was aimed particularly at learning what Senators and Representatives own stocks and bonds of electric companies grouped within the so-called "power trust" which a Democratic-insurgent coalition is attempting to investigate. It would apply, however, to "all industrial, railroad, banking, shipping, mining, oil and all other corporations, firms and partnerships" owned within the last two years.

The resolution would order those affected to file an inventory of holdings with the Federal Trade Commission before March 31, 1929.

EXPLOSION IN DOWNTOWN

ELECTRIC SERVICE BOX

The metal lid of a service box—commonly called a manhole—located on the east side of Eleventh street and near the alley running between the Laclede Gas Light Co. and City Club buildings, was blown several feet into the air at noon today, following an explosion resulting from a short circuit in a 500-volt electric cable of the gas company.

The service box contains low-tension wires of the Laclede and Union Electric companies, and it is believed that water from the streets seeped into the chamber, came in contact with the copper cable, and the resulting short and spark ignited the gas in the chamber. The insulation of the wires was ignited and a smoldering fire resulted. The elevators in the Laclede Building were put out of order.

There were no gas mains in this chamber. The distinction between a manhole and a service box is that the former carries high-tension wires, the latter low-tension wires, and the compartment is usually not so large.

up to him and shot at him as he lay in the middle of the sidewalk."

Stagoski said he was wounded slightly in the right ear. He said the men escaped through a hallway between the sugar warehouse and a poolroom. He could not identify Calico, saying the two assassins he saw had their backs toward him.

Nine men are under indictment in connection with the Palazzolo murder, seven of whom are in custody. Of these seven, the State has elected first to try Ralph Calico, who, according to police, has been identified by Alexander Weber, a Negro, as one of the men who shot Palazzolo.

SAMUEL WILLIAMS, FORMER EDITOR, DIES

He Once Was on Post-Dispatch and Louisville Papers.

Samuel Williams, editor of the editorial page of the Post-Dispatch in the late nineties, and once part owner of the Kansas City Evening Mail, later consolidated with the Kansas City Star, died early today of the infirmities of age at his home at 335 Berry road, Webster Groves. He was 96 years old.

A native of Paris, Ky., Mr. Williams began his newspaper career as assistant editor of the Kentucky State Flag in Paris, remaining there until 1886 when he moved to Louisville and became a reporter on the Courier.

Two years later he gave up journalism, just before the Courier, Democrat and Journal were consolidated, to become principal of a public school, but after two years at teaching he returned to the newspaper, working on the Courier-Journal and later on the Louisville Ledger.

John G. Carlisle, then Lieutenant-Governor of Kentucky and later Secretary of the Treasury under President Cleveland, was then head of the Ledger and because of his many interests left editorial direction largely in the hands of Mr. Williams.

Sold Paper to Nelson.
Early in 1872 Williams came to St. Louis where for two years he worked on the old Republican. From here he went to Kansas City to take charge of the Times editorial page. Later he became part owner and manager of the Evening Mail, but sold his interests in 1881 to William R. Nelson, who consolidated the Mail and the Star.

Mr. Williams meanwhile returned to St. Louis as an editorial writer on the Post-Dispatch. In St. Louis as in Kansas City he was known as "Colonel Sam." He often explained that he had followed a line of several real colonels on the Evening Mail and had been dubbed "Colonel" by popular consent, although he disclaimed any right to the title.

His stay with the Post-Dispatch ended in 1898 when he took a position with the New York World. He returned to St. Louis in 1901 and was a member of the press bureau of the World's Fair until the close of the exposition, when he retired.

At Webster Groves he lived with his children, the Misses Albert and Susanne Williams, and Mrs. H. B. Trimble, whose husband also lives at the house on Berry road. He also had one son, Robert Williams.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at an undertaking establishment at 17 West Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves, with interment in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Annual Sale of Kuppenheimer Suits

The Clothing Event of Supreme Importance Begins Wednesday Morning at 8 o'Clock

$29 & $39

IT starts Wednesday morning—the once-yearly clothing event to which men look forward with great eagerness and anticipation—the annual sale which brings clothing buying opportunities of compelling interest to the men of St. Louis and vicinity each year. More than 2000 Kuppenheimer Suits offer satisfactory choice for young men, older men and men who like a dash of youth in their apparel.

These Suits conform to Kuppenheimer's usual high standard of quality. They are of medium weight, the kind that St. Louis men wear the year 'round, and include the newest ideas for the season.

Men who have participated in this event in former years know that they get the same fabrics, tailoring, fit and patterns that ordinarily cost much more.

This year the quantity and variety are unusually wide, and the prices, as always, are extremely low, making this unquestionably the clothing buying opportunity of the season.

$1,020,000 EXPENDED FOR TORNADO RELIEF

Report of St. Louis Red Cross Chapter to Be Completed by Thursday.

Final report on relief work undertaken by the St. Louis Chapter of the American Red Cross after the tornado, Sept. 23, is expected to show a total of $1,020,000 expended for relief and administration of relief of 5534 families.

The report, now being prepared, will be submitted to the Citizens' Tornado Relief Committee at a meeting Thursday. Except for distribution of some awards made by the Rehabilitation Committee, the relief work ended Jan. 15 and relief headquarters at 1411 North Grand boulevard will be closed about Feb. 1.

The report, in round figures, will contain the following summary of the relief work:

Expended for emergency and permanent relief, $995,000, of which $887,000 was raised in St. Louis.

Deficit covering cost of administration, which probably will be borne by the National Red Cross, $125,000.

Cost of emergency relief, $42,000. Families receiving awards for tornado losses, 3515.

As has been told, 5534 families registered with the Red Cross as having suffered from the disaster or, it is estimated, 24,380 persons. Sixty-four per cent, or 3534 families, received assistance from the Red Cross.

The Red Cross count of the number of dead was 70, in addition to 1352 persons who received medical attention and 476 listed as injured.

The Rehabilitation Committee, a group of citizens prominent in business and professional circles, made awards for permanent relief to 3515 families. The average relief expenditure for a family was $88 and the average award for permanent relief $213.

Red Cross surveys showed, as also has been told, 707 buildings destroyed by the tornado and 4000 damaged. Many of the permanent relief awards were for rebuilding or repairing buildings hit by the tornado.

Of the 3661 registered families that did not receive awards, 1689 stated they could recover without Red Cross aid, 580 could not be found and 481 were found not to have suffered material loss. The Rehabilitation Committee considered 211 families able to handle their problems without assistance.

The field staff of 75 professional social service workers, who investigated all cases for the Award Committee, has been disbanded. The relief fund amounted to $912,000, of which $25,000 was contributed by the national Red Cross.

THREE MEN SENTENCED FOR BOOTLEGGING AT ILLINOIS U.

Judge Wham Says Sellers of Liquor to Students "Commit Worst Sort" of Offense.

Bootleggers who peddled whiskey to University of Illinois students at Urbana got short shrift in Federal Judge Wham's Court yesterday. He sentenced Walter Winkler of Urbana, former Deputy Sheriff, to 60 days in jail and $200 fine; Ben Snyder got 90 days in jail and $500 fine and Robert Hall was fined $200.

"Men who sell liquor to students," Judge Wham commented, "are committing the worst sort of bootlegging. There are no mitigations for men who sell liquor to young people away from home where there can be no parental guidance." Judge Wham is a graduate of the University of Illinois, and a former trustee.

Other sentences imposed on pleas of guilty were Peter Oldani, Herrin, four months and $400; Angelo Nava, nine months and $400 on a third conviction; Rose Nava, Herrin, $100 fine. Otto Turley, former agent of the St. Clair County Cleanup League, was sentenced to four months in jail and $500 fine on his conviction by a jury of bootlegging.

CALIFORNIAN IN HOUSE DEBATE CALLS WISCONSIN MAN A LIAR

Representative Free Then Asks
That Remark to Cooper Over 12-Hour Day He Expunged.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—In a short debate in the House today over Shipping Board funds, Representative Free (Rep.), California, called Representative Cooper (Rep.), Wisconsin, "a liar."

The Wisconsin member had requested permission to speak a longer time than was provided, but permission was blocked by an objection from Free.

"Well, since debate has been limited by a motion of Representative Wood of Indiana, and the gentleman from California—who believes in the 12-hour day—objects, then I," continued Cooper, when his remarks were interrupted by Free, who jumped up and declared that he believed in the 12-hour day. The remark was repeated by Cooper.

"You are a liar," said the Californian, leaving his seat.

The white-haired Wisconsin veteran stood perfectly still while cries rose from the floor demanding that Free "withdraw the remark." After a silence settled over the House, Free rose and asked that his remarks be expunged from the record.

The House voted to make the Shipping Board's appropriation $12,400,000, in place of $12,000,000, as recommended by the Appropriations Committee. The amendment was sponsored by Kentucky members. The increase is to provide for reconditioning coal-carrying ships.

THE UNION MARKET

The new Union Market, erected at a cost of $1,000,000, was the first building to be erected in the city under the $2,000,000 bond issue. The building is four stories in height and covers the entire block located on the site of the old Union Market, bounded by Broadway, Main, Locust and Morgan streets. The three upper floors are used as a municipal garage. The market is located on the first floor. Here may be found foods from all parts of the world temporarily displayed in white enamel nickel-plated booths, which are always kept at the height of cleanliness. White-clad smiling men and women waiting to serve the wants of the myriad of customers, whose may be found every material for breakfast, luncheons and dinners, displayed and designed to cover the entire floor. The choice is wide and the colors are unusually attractive. The Union Market is an institution second to none in the United States and is conveniently located in the heart of our downtown district, and one that our citizens should be proud of. Every day this space will be devoted to some one particular manufacturing plant or industry which is contributing to the dramatic growth of St. Louis.

BOMB DAMAGES NEW BUILDING IN UNIVERSITY CITY

Loss at Four-Family Apartment on Eastgate Avenue Estimated at $8000; None Injured.

Employment of nonunion labor was given by James M. Moran, vice president of the West End Realty & Construction Co., as the cause of a bomb explosion at 7:45 o'clock last night that caused an estimated damage of $8000 to the south wall and interior of a four-family apartment house which Moran's company has under construction at 918 Eastgate avenue, University City.

The detonation was heard for miles, and splintered glass and debris were thrown for hundreds of feet. There were no passersby at the moment and no one was injured.

Police of University City and County officers are working on the theory that fuse, blasting caps, powder and dynamite stolen the night before from the Rock Hill quarry storage house, Lay road, near Manchester road, had been used in the explosion.

This was the fifth bombing of structures in the county and city west end, on which nonunion labor was employed, within the last few months, each being attributed to failure of the contractor to employ union labor exclusively. In no instance has there been a prosecution.

Bomb Under Stairway. The explosion last night was in one of four apartment houses in a row, nearing completion. Apparently, the bomb was placed under a stairway inside the front door. A large hole was blown in the south wall and the interior woodwork, plumbing and electrical fixtures were ruined. Moran after an inspection today said the entire south wall would have to be replaced and the finish, plumbing and electrical fixtures and wiring replaced.

Speaking for the Carpenters' District Council, of which he is secretary, Harry G. Lindeman, who is also president of the Building Trades Council, central body of labor unions in St. Louis and St. Louis County, said he would not like to think any union man had any connection with the explosion.

"We do not, officially or unofficially, countenance sabotage," said Lindeman. "We would not continue in membership any workman or other person who would thus endanger life and property or who would advocate such violent measures against the employers of nonunion labor. It is most regrettable to us, because we usually are blamed for such acts."

Quarry Building Robbed. There were union and nonunion men in Moran's organization at work on the building. Moran said a man telephoned him last fall urging him to unionize his forces, but he declined. The man, he said, did not identify himself beyond stating that he represented organized labor.

The Rock Hill quarry storage house was broken into some time Sunday night. A thousand feet of fuse, three boxes of electric blasting caps, one keg of gunpowder and two boxes of stick dynamite were stolen. A report of this robbery was made to Chief of Police Gerk, who notified all police yesterday to keep a close watch on new buildings where nonunion men were employed.

On the night of Nov. 5, an estimated damage of $5000 was caused by a bomb in a four-family apartment house under construction by Moran's company at 4846 Anderson avenue.

A residence at 7225 Pershing avenue, under construction by Vincent A. Chinnberg, building contractor, or of 808 Chestnut street, was bombed Sept. 28, causing a damage of $1000. Chinnberg's home, 7120 Washington boulevard, was damaged by a bomb Dec. 22. The explosion caused a damage of $1000 to the adjacent home of Dr. M. F. Arbuckle, 7118 Washington.

A flat under construction by the Union Realty and Construction Co. at 3563 Maffitt avenue, was bombed Aug. 13, causing $500 damage.

Flat Occupied by Negro Bombed: Loss $1000.

Another bomb explosion not attributed to labor trouble occurred at 5:45 p. m. yesterday in a two-story flat at 4468-70-72 Pinney avenue. A hole was torn in the first floor, causing a damage estimated at $1000.

Mrs. Beulah Rouse, a Negro, recently moved into the flat, which is owned by Dr. G. D. Key, a Negro of 4245 Cook avenue. The occupancy of the flat by Mrs. Rouse was said by police to have aroused the resentment of white neighbors. The flat until recently had been occupied by white people.

SCHOOL BOARD CREATES BUREAU FOR PUBLICITY

Provides for Director and Several Aids and Is New Phase of Dispute With Superintendent.

Against the vigorous opposition of a minority, the Board of Education voted yesterday, 8 to 5, to create a new Bureau of Reference, Research and Publicity, designed to give the board information and assistance independent of the superintendent.

This is a phase of the intermittent dispute between the board and Supt. Maddox, whose office is laid down by the charter from the State. The meeting was a special one to finish pending business, and an executive session at its end considered what shall be done with the buildings of Central High and Columbia grade schools, wrecked by the September tornado.

Board members said it was decided to rebuild Columbia, but that the question of Central, which has vexed the body for some time, was laid over to Feb. 14. It was proposed tentatively to utilize the old Central High site for a vocational training school, an innovation here, but whether the present structure will be rebuilt or a new one erected remains to be seen. Henry C. Schroeder, one board member, asserted it was certain that Central High, now using the Yeatman building, would be continued as a secondary school.

Bureau Creates New Jobs. The vote on the new bureau arose on a resolution to change the rules. Mrs. Elias Michael, John C. Tobin and Myrt A. Rollins voted against it. Arthur R. Schellmeyer was absent. All other members favored the proposal. Besides a director, several other jobs are carried by the bureau. These are not filled as yet. Some members voting for the scheme indicated they would have it abolished if it did not work well.

Duties and powers of the director are: To investigate and report on educational matters referred by the board; to collect and publish information of interest to the public or in furtherance of school progress at the board's direction; to study school systems of other cities, and to appoint a publicity agent.

Ben Weldie, Board president, declared the bureau would offer information not now obtainable, and explained that details of the arrangement would have to be voted on by the Board later. Dr. David C. Todd, a member, admitting that the bureau might be misused, maintained it could be made valuable. Rollins, who agreed with Mrs. Michael, expressed fear of misuse and failure of the department.

Foresees Conflict of Duties. In a prepared statement read to the Board, Mrs. Michael challenged the knowledge of her colleagues as to the meaning and requirements of the bureau, in scope, cost, co-ordination and great demands on the director, and inquired under whose supervision the bureau would act. She declared it would be independent of departments established by charter, seemingly to supervise them and interpret their actions to the Board and the public, thereby influencing the Board and public opinion. She argued that this wrongly transferred responsibility from school officers.

The bureau director would assume duties and powers specifically under control of charter officers, she objected. Bureau interpretation of officers' acts would cause serious disagreements, she continued, and the director, to fulfill his task, would have to be of caliber equal to the school superintendent, assuming similar duties without the title.

PASSENGER TRAIN IN CRASH

Wabash passenger train No. 18, Chicago bound, was delayed about an hour after it had crashed into an engine pulling eight freight cars at First and North Market streets shortly after last midnight. Two freight cars were demolished and the engine was so badly damaged it could not go on the run. Police were told the collision, in which no injuries were reported, was due to a misunderstanding of signals. Harry Dunn was engineer of the Wabash train.

WOMEN—FREE!

You BUY 2 Boxes of Kotex for 98c
You GET One Full-Sized Box FREE

Thus you receive 3 boxes on payment of only 98c—Offer Limited—Act Promptly

Made to acquaint all women with the remarkable protective features of KOTEX—features found in no other sanitary accessory known

To show women the remarkable difference and vastly greater protection of Kotex over any other sanitary accessory known, this unique offer is made... three regular 65c boxes of Kotex, a $1.95 value, on payment of 98c.

Go today to any store in this city, or out of town, where Kotex is sold and take advantage of this opportunity. But do not delay. All dealers' stocks are limited. If you come late, you cannot be supplied.

The difference between Kotex and other sanitary pads

Kotex is utterly different from all other sanitary pads. There is no other "like" Kotex.

Kotex is the one and only sanitary pad filled with the super-absorbent Cellucotton wadding.

Thus Kotex has the amazing power of absorbing 16 times its own weight in moisture! Thus Kotex has 5 times the absorbency of the ordinary cotton-filled pad! Think what this means in protection.

Because of these exclusive features Kotex has changed the hygienic habits of the world. It has made sheerest frocks safe under the most trying hygienic handicap women know. Eight in ten better-class women of America have adopted Kotex—for health's sake and for peace-of-mind.

KOTEX

Discards like tissue—No disposal problem

One uses Kotex, then discards it—as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry. No problem of disposal. Think, too, what this means.

Deodorizes while it acts. Another factor is that KOTEX is scientifically permeated—under a process applied to no other sanitary pad—with a highly effective deodorant.

That means that Kotex deodorizes thoroughly and absolutely as it acts. Which banishes another old-time fear of women.

More than a "sanitary pad"—True Scientific Protection

Kotex comes as the result of years of scientific experiment.

It is made under hospital standards of sanitation and safety.

It embodies scientific protection that is sure and positive... features unknown to any other sanitary accessory in the world today.

Accept this offer

Today accept the remarkable offer named above on Kotex.

Find out for yourself why millions of women use it. Find out why experts say, "Only Kotex itself is 'like' Kotex—Only Kotex itself is Kotex."

This amazing bargain now on display at your favorite store. Take advantage of this offer today

IMPORTANT!

Why gamble with substitutes hospitals have tried and rejected?

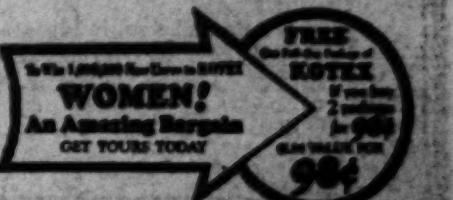

More than 75% of all recognized hospitals in America use Cellucotton absorbent wadding in their surgical departments—the same material that is used exclusively as a filler in Kotex pads.

Many hospitals have tried substitutes for Cellucotton wadding, but have returned to the exclusive use of this marvelous absorbent, which towers above all low-quality absorbents.

Good hospitals and reputable surgeons take no chances with their patients. Why then should you allow any merchant to substitute a pad made of inferior material when you wish the only original Kotex?

In spite of cheaper substitutes, hospitals have purchased at regular prices 1,441,152 Kotex pads this year for their patients. Doctors insist on Kotex for patients. Will you accept less?

MOTHER!

Look at Child's Tongue if Sick,
Cross, Feverish

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless, "fruity laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

TWO AUTOMOBILE SUPPLY COMPANIES ROBBED OF $438

Same Three Men Believed to Have Committed Holdups; Clerk Foils Third Robbery.

Three men, believed to be the same in each instance, robbed two firms last night, escaping with a total of $552 in cash and loot. From the United States Auto Supply Co., $213 cash and a radio set valued at $114 were taken. From the Brannan Auto Supply Co., 1818 North Grand boulevard, $225 was taken from the safe and cash register, after which the three robbers locked Max Franzel, proprietor, and Abe Robertson in a rear room.

When robbers for the third time in as many weeks entered the drug store at 1801 Morgan street, Semmie Moberly, the night clerk, drew a revolver he had bought after the first robbery and frightened the robbers away. Two weeks ago Moberly chased a robber out of the store, firing at him as he departed.

The Secret of America's Prosperity is Electric Power

OUR NATION has attained a degree of economic leadership surpassing that of every other country in the world. The millions who work in American factories are paid far more than are those in Europe, and the conveniences which the average American regards as every day necessities represent unheard-of luxuries in the eyes of his neighbor across the sea.

Europe is seeking to discover the secret of our prosperity. Many contributing factors have been disclosed, but the investigations of expert authorities lead to one outstanding fact:

The economic welfare of the United States surpasses that of other nations in approximate proportion to the consumption of electric power!

England for example. A survey by two Englishmen of 24 industries shows that America has three times the electrical horse-power of England. As a result the American laborer produces about three times as much as the English laborer, and he is paid about three times as much for his work. The greater supply of electric energy in America means greater output for the American laborer and a greater income with which to enjoy the pleasures of life.

Thus the giant electric power plants of America, producing approximately 66 billion kilowatt hours annually, have played a vital part in furthering growth and progress of our country.

But the contribution of electricity to our prosperity is by no means confined to the industrial field. The comfort and convenience of the American home is a source of amazement to the average European, for therein he finds undreamed of luxury; for instance he finds that American women do not . . . as so many women do on the European Continent . . . carry the laundry to the river bank each week; instead, he finds an electric washing machine doing the work more quickly, easier and better.

The St. Louis district enjoys the advantages of one of the greatest super-power systems in the world . . . Hydro-electric power generated at Keokuk . . . Steam generated electricity at the Cahokia and Ashley plants . . . three huge reservoirs of electrical energy, interconnected and jointly feeding into a vast distribution network, making possible economies in operation and distribution which give the St. Louis district an abundant supply of electricity at rates among the lowest of all the cities in the United States!

5 hours washing
 2 hours ironing
 5 1/2 hours cleaning
 17 hours sewing—

Do ALL these Electrically—for the price of an ice cream soda!

Labor saving electrical appliances will do your housework more quickly, easier and better.

Electricity to operate them costs very little—for when you have used enough current to cheerfully light your rooms, then—automatically—all that you use in addition you pay for at the wholesale rate.

In the average St. Louis home this "wholesale" electricity costs only 2 1/2¢ a kilowatt hour, and a kilowatt hour of electricity will operate your vacuum cleaner 5 1/2 hours, washing machine 5 hours, sewing machine 17 hours. The cost is computed in pennies while the time and drudgery saved are worth dollars.

HUCKSTER KILLED, ANOTHER SHOT IN ROW OF NEIGHBORS

John Schwartz, Identified by Pair as One Who Fired on Home, Dies at City Hospital.

A neighborhood quarrel over neglected children resulted in the killing last night of John Schwartz, 34 years old, a huckster, 2319 Maiden lane, and the wounding of Philip Dineen, 23, a one-armed peddler, 4305 Cottage avenue. The trouble started Sunday night when Mrs. George Wood, 1436A (rear) North Twenty-first street, saw two hungry and ill-kempt children of a neighbor crying in the street. Mrs. Wood, followed by her husband, went to the neighbor's home and rebuked her. Several men at the neighbor's house took exception to the rebuke, and Mrs. Wood says one, Philip Dineen, struck her, whereupon Wood shot Dineen in the left leg. Police were notified. Last night Wood and his wife were in the kitchen of their home when several men came up on the back porch and shot into the house. Wood and his wife each obtained a revolver and fired back, repelling the invaders. They said they recognized Schwartz and Dineen among the invaders. While Wood and his wife went to her mother's home for more ammunition, two of the men returned and smashed up their furnishings. Schwartz, shot in the abdomen, died at City Hospital at 10:58 p. m., three hours after he had applied for treatment. He told police he had been shot by several men in an automobile. Dineen denied engaging in any quarrel, and asserted he was shot as he passed an alley. Sheriff Dies at Urbana, Ill. URBANA, Ill., Jan. 24.—George W. Davis, serving his third term as Sheriff of Champaign County, died early today from heart disease. He had been ill for several years.

IRISH PRESIDENT LUNCHEON GUEST AT WHITE HOUSE

William T. Cosgrave's Busy Round of Activity in Washington Outdistances Members of Party.

RIDES HORSE IN PARK BEFORE BREAKFAST

Free State Executive Lays Wreath on Tomb of Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—A day of busy American activities, ranging from a horseback ride on a hired mount to a formal luncheon at the White House kept William T. Cosgrave, President of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State, scurrying about Washington and its suburbs so rapidly today that the members of his official party had difficulty in keeping up with him.

He was out on the bridge paths of Rock Creek Park shortly after 7 o'clock this morning, taking an unscheduled before-breakfast canter, unaccompanied by the staff officials who came to Washington with him yesterday for a four-day visit.

After breakfast at his hotel, he motored to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington and left a wreath. Then followed a round of official calls, and some sight-seeing before 1 o'clock luncheon with President Coolidge.

Those present at the luncheon included all the members of President Coolidge's Cabinet who are in Washington, the staff of the Irish Free State Legation, the chairman of the Senate and House committees dealing with foreign affairs, and high officers of the American army, navy and diplomatic service.

On the horseback ride, Cosgrave had as a companion for part of the canter, Senator Borah of Idaho. Borah was returning from his usual morning ride when he met Cosgrave, attended only by the Irish aide of the stable from which he had obtained the mount. They shook hands and the Senator turned his horse around and rode with the visitor half an hour.

The Irish President is invited to the White House for luncheon today. In a formal call late yesterday he assured Mr. Coolidge that the people of Ireland appreciated American efforts in their behalf during their fight for freedom. He thanked Coolidge for the appointment of a minister from the United States to the Free State. He commended him on his choice of Frederick A. Sterling and said that within a short time Sterling had endeared himself to the people of the Free State. Cosgrave declared he was particularly pleased that as the first executive head of the Free State he was able to return a long period of years to the visit paid to Ireland by Benjamin Franklin.

President Coolidge thanked the visitor and expressed a deep interest in Irish affairs, asking many questions about conditions in the Free State. Coolidge was pleased, Cosgrave said later, with the acknowledgment that America had assisted Ireland.

The call at the White House, preceded by a visit to Secretary of State Kellogg and followed by calls upon Sir James Hailey, the British Ambassador, and Vincent Massey, the Minister from Canada.

In Search of Himself

JERRY TARBOT: HIS BOOK
(Clyde Publishing Co., New York)

"Who is Jerry Tarbot?" The publishers say that "a hundred million Americans are asking this question." Doubtless this is an exaggeration, though it is true that not so very long ago "Jerry" Whoever-He-May-Be was a front page celebrity. But so many brilliant heroes and heroines of crime have leaped into national fame since then that it is probable most people, upon hearing the name again, will wonder when the fellow flew and did he do it with an ax or a hammer or a sash weight, and what were the horrible details that made him famous. If and when he was so.

But, alas, Jerry never murdered anybody, except possibly in war. He is simply in the predicament of the small boy's dog friend. "What's the name of the dog?" one asked. "Don't know," said the boy. "Dog don't know either. Something chased his tail off." And here, for the first time, Jerry tells, with what circumstantiality he can command, just what seems to have happened and how and when.

Some time in 1926, we are told, a man awoke in a hospital for insane at Stockton, Cal.—eight years and 6000 miles away from where he was when last he had checked up on his consciousness. According to his story, told generally with a strange convincingness, he believed himself to be in a war hospital "over there." At any rate it seemed but a short while since he had been hurled aloft in a roaring geyser of earth to vaken in a shambles. He could remember starting to crawl out. Apparently it had been a rather long and tedious crawl, for somehow he had covered 6000 miles in his black sleep and spent eight years on the job.

Then, he tells us, it occurred to him that he should write to his mother. Furnished with pencil and paper, he wrote: "Dear Mom: But something was wrong, and suddenly the catapasmic truth went through his addled head like a tornado. Who and where was 'Mom' and who was he who sought her?"

There was another very bad spell after that, and when the world of sense again emerged from the chaos of evil dreams, and things seemed solid in the light of common day, the man was told that his name was Jerry Tarbot, and so far as he knew, he had never heard the name before. Then during weeks of convalescence the man called Jerry began to remember—though what was dream and what was memory, who may know?

He had gone from Canada to Europe, so he insisted and still insisted, immediately upon the outbreak of the war, hoping to get into the big show. But he was rejected and returned to America. Later he crossed again in a cattle ship and somehow or other, according to his story, managed to get into the ranks of the American Marines in time for the fighting in Belleau Wood. He tells of adventures, of a fitting day, of others chant the phalanx with rows of brilliant spears that helped the boy of Chateau subdue a helpless world. That made his name so shining bright where war's grim flag's unfurled; For ever praise of martial deeds will make the welkin ring.

And some will chant of battle while there's left a voice to sing; And hence, are yet our songs are done and all our ardor spent Sing Dempsey's clash with Tunney in the annual event.

Oh, some will sing the rising sun of rosy tinted day, And some to night's pale waning moon in dits a fitting lay; Some poets hymn in stirring verse the miracle of spring, And some to love's recurrent theme their finest stanzas bring; If some must sing the rising sun that lights the waking morn, And some the spring's sweet mild approach was never poet born To chant a theme as sure as day? All humbly I present When Dempsey meets with Tunney in that annual event.

And in the old days, the doctor was called for the victim of the crime. It seems peculiar to speak of a man standing in a presidential race, but there Senator Willis.

Our more or less futile objection to the entire absence of winter in that next August, when nobody cares more or less, the Weather Bureau will endeavor to convince us that the winter was normal.

"I've been keeping a diary for the last five years," remarked the average man. "It's the same diary."

the oil companies, like the priests, do want to register their properties, for the real crux of their case is their dubious titles and the uncertainty as to how laws the Mexican officials will prove in constraining them. In Mexican law, largely derived from Spanish law, there is a strictly speaking, no such thing as an absolute title in the Anglo-Saxon concept. All property is a "concession" from the powers that be. The oil companies, however, declare that they will never accept "concessions" though in the last analysis that is all they ever have possessed.

And so, all in all, the Mexican Government has granted but little more than it has been willing to grant all the time. And so it may be said, with irony, that the law represents the crowning failure of the American diplomatic in Mexico. The tragedy of the whole business resides in the fact that we were stirred so close to war by over petroleum technicalities that we jeopardized our entire peace and good-will with Latin-America, and to some extent with the world, in a futile conflict in which, by little by little, we have had to yield to the Mexican position and to respect the sovereign right of Mexico to enact its own legislation.

tures, at once terrible and ludicrous, that befell him as a result of his getting lost from his outfit in action; and if the man is spitting the public, it must be granted that he is gifted with at least a touch of literary genius. Surely the few flashing pictures of war that he conjures early in the book, either from memory or imagination or both, would do credit to a first-class writing man; and still there seems to be evidence throughout the book that Jerry is not that. It is only as he approaches some supreme moment of mind-destroying terror in what seems another world that his prose becomes distinguished for economy and power. And then, times, save for occasional flashes of understated love for dumb brutes and wild nature, he is commonplace enough.

It appears that the man Jerry Tarbot used to be must have been well educated, and Jerry claims to remember years spent as a student at Fordham University. In an appendix to the book Rev. Henry McGarry, S. J., testifies that Tarbot must have known Fordham well in the old days since he reveals familiarity with many little matters well known to the writer, a former professor at Fordham. But examining the roster at Fordham, Jerry found no name that he could recognize as his own. As for his alleged military service, he is said that various "buddies" of the man have recognized him without being able to recall his name; and in the appendix is given the testimony of Col. Frank Evans of the Marine Corps, who seems to be convinced that, whoever Jerry may be, he knows too much about the outfit with which he claims to have served to be regarded as an impostor.

But whatever may be the truth about Jerry Tarbot, his book is very interesting. Call it fiction, if you must; but, even so, you still have a strange tale in which the tuckles, hero wanders restlessly about a continent in search of the man he used to be.

250 GIRLS REPORT FOR OPERA TRYOUTS

Parade Chorus and Voices Before Judges, for Place in Chorus School.

Drawn by the lure of the footlights, more than 250 girls reported at Jefferson Memorial last night for the vocal tryouts by which students in the Municipal Opera Association chorus school are to be chosen for next summer's productions.

Stenographers who had come direct from work, school girls, girls in squirrel coats and factory girls whose eyes gleamed with the excitement of the occasion made up the diversified crowd that gathered in the west wing.

All had made previous application for admission to the school, from which annually 100 girls are drawn to make up the summer opera chorus and all were determined to show their best voices to the three judges—Alonso Price, the new general stage director; Leon Rosebrook, the musical director, also a newcomer, and the veteran manager, David E. Russell.

The judges sat at a table in a smaller room and one by one the girls were called in, bidden to stand by the piano and told to intone a successful of ascending notes that took them up through an octave and a half.

It would have been dull work—the same intonation over and over again, the same false starts, the same assurance that "I can dance better than I sing"—were it not for the youthful, if frightened, eagerness with which each applicant tried to impress her judges.

Most of them were obviously frightened. With some the occasion took away voices and what-ever traces of bearing they may have had. To other, sterner souls, it was a dash of cold water that served them for the apparently formidable effort.

Whatever their bearing, they typified youth, eager, bright-eyed, on the threshold of a new adventure. Virtually all of them were attractive with the charm of the late teens and the early twenties. Many were distinctly pretty and one or two were beauties—and had good voices besides.

Altogether, about 650 girls have applied for admission to the school and auditions will be held tonight and tomorrow night until all are heard. Later the 300 who are to attend the school will be notified by mail of their selection.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. THE job of being a waitress in New York continues to improve as a calling. Formerly the ladies engaged in "dealing 'em off the arm" featured peroxide hair, a gold tooth and a brisk line of snappy chatter. They were known as "biscuit shooters" or "hash slingers."

Their occupational status was somewhat akin to their brothers who drove trucks. Most of them were employed in so-called grease parlors or dirty spoon restaurants of the Bowery and East Side. They wore plaid skirts, chewed gum and were "dese" and "doses" talkers patently on the mash.

Better sort of places employed only men to wait tables. Today the waitress is on duty in magnificent establishments on Fifth, Park and Madison avenues. She comes from refined atmosphere to grace the job.

She has poise plus and seems not one whit ashamed to wear her rather charm-revealing uniform. Nor need she be for it is said in some of the places featuring $2.50 and $3 dinners there are waitresses whose incomes often total $60 a week.

And a number of these girls have been able to acquire a stake in a short while sufficient to take over a restaurant a few steps from Forty-second street, three waitresses have become the wives of successful men whom they served.

There are several hostesses or supervisors who are college graduates. A certain physical beauty is an essential for the job of waitress in the best establishments. All have the appearance of being alert without being servile.

In some restaurants one sees on an engraved table card that "This table is presided over by Miss Mary Smith." The hostesses address them as "Miss." It is also noticed the places offering this sort of refinement among its waitresses are packed.

CHICAGOAN BUYS LONDON HOME

Miss Mary Landon Baker to Live in Chesterfield Street.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Daily Mail says Miss Mary Landon Baker of Chicago, who was on the verge of marrying Alister McCormick of Chicago two or three times, and has spent a good part of her time since 1922 denying reports of her engagement to various men, including King Boris of Bulgaria, has joined the ranks of London hostesses.

The Mail says Miss Baker has leased a house on Chesterfield street, which is named after nearby Chesterfield House, which is the London home of Viscount Lascelles and Princess Mary.

ADMITS HIS AUTO KILLED WOMAN

Harry Murphy, on Trial, Says He Swerved Machine to Avoid Coupe.

Taking the witness stand in Circuit Court in his trial for manslaughter, Harry Murphy, an automobile salesman, of 6018A Carlsbad avenue, admitted this afternoon he was the driver of the automobile that killed Mrs. May Armand, 25 years old, 2609 Armand place, and injured another woman as the two women waited for a street car on North Jefferson avenue and Armand place last Aug. 18.

Murphy said his car struck the two women as he swerved it into the street car tracks to avoid hitting a coupe that turned abruptly in front of him.

After hitting the two women, Murphy related, he halted his car 80 feet away, then abandoned it a block farther on and went home. Murphy denied the women were standing in a safety zone, as the State alleged.

Both State and defense completed their testimony this afternoon and the case was expected to go to the jury late today.

Murphy was arrested the next morning as the driver of an automobile found abandoned a block north of the scene of accident, with Mrs. Martin's hat on the running board and blood and strands of hair on the hood.

Among the State's witnesses one was absent—Miss Beulah Cline of 8746 N. Broadway, whom Mrs. Martin had escorted to the street car after a visit in the Martin home. Miss Cline's skull was fractured in the accident and she has not recovered sufficiently to attend the trial.

From a window of their home, William C. Martin, a chauffeur, saw his wife and Miss Cline struck by an automobile going north on Jefferson avenue, Martin testified. Other witnesses of the accident were Henry Wessling of 3907 Illinois avenue and Elmer Guth of 2842 Texas avenue, who, recognizing Miss Cline, had parked their coupe at the curb near the safety zone to hail her. As Wessling shouted "Hello," he testified, the other machine darted between the parked coupe and the safety zone and hit the two women. There was plenty of room between the parked car and the safety zone for it to pass without going through the zone, Wessling said.

Detective - Lieutenant Mulcahy testified he arrested Murphy at his home two and one-half hours after the accident and found him in bed,

THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN AND CONSTIPATION

Thousands of people eat bran regularly for the healthful roughage it provides. It is a splendid practice. But be sure you are really getting all the roughage you need when you eat bran. Doctors say it takes 100% bran to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only accomplish part-way results. That is why they fail!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. Just two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

You'll like the flavor and crispness of ALL-BRAN. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Mix with other cereals. Sprinkle into soups. Use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SAYS ROADS BLOCK CHANGES

Kansas Congressman Alleges Order for Rate Reduction Is Ignored.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. — The railroads were charged with deliberately impeding the efforts of the Interstate Commerce Commission to carry out the Hoch-Smith resolution, which calls for an adjustment of freight rates for agricultural products on the lowest scale consistent with adequate transportation service, by Representative Hoch (Rep.), Kansas, in the House yesterday.

Hoch upheld the Commission in its efforts to carry out the mandate of the resolution and asked for continued vigilance in this regard. He suggested that Congress be patient with the efforts to readjust the freight rate structure. The Kansas member charged that the railroads' attitude is explained by a "dictatorship of far-removed financial interests indifferent to public sentiment."

DENIES PRIORITY OF STATE'S $45,579 CLAIM

It Must Take Its Pro Rata of Closed Page Bank's Assets, Court Rules.

The State has no prior claim on the $45,579.49 of automobile license funds tied up in the failure of the Page Bank, Circuit Judge Mulloy ruled at Clayton today, and must accept its pro rata of the loss unless it can recover from the directors of the bank who signed a $50,000 surety bond.

Attorney-General Gentry had contended that, under the common law, the State had a prior claim. In making his decision, Judge Mulloy referred to a decision by the Missouri Supreme Court in the Holland Banking case at Springfield, in which the high court held that the State could not claim priority.

Judge Mulloy pointed out that Secretary of State Becker was acting within official discretion granted to him by the auto license law in "the collection and transmission of auto license funds." The law provides that the moneys are to be collected and "promptly transmitted" to the State Treasurer. Judge Mulloy said this provision gave Becker authority to choose a practical method of transmitting the money, which would be to deposit it in a bank then check it out within a reasonable time.

The directors of the bank, among them Clifford M. Hicks, murdered attorney whose operations led to its involvement, gave a bond of $50,000 May 7 last, a week after directors qualified as sureties by making statements to show they were worth an aggregate of $215,000. The Page Bank closed its doors May 7 last, a week after Hicks was murdered.

GOOD BUTTER

Necessary as sunshine

TO CHILD HEALTH AND GROWTH

Health and growth in children are due, we are told, largely to the presence of certain life-giving substances, known as vitamins A and D, in their daily diet.

Give children food that is rich in these vital elements and they will grow and thrive. But let their diet lack them and they will fall easy victims to rickets, anemia, colds and childhood diseases.

Of all foods, say authorities, none, save milk, is so rich as butter in these energizing vitamins. For butter is more than merely a food. It is really captured and concentrated sunshine. In fact, it is as necessary as sunshine to normal child health and growth.

Pure, savory Blue Valley Butter is today widely recognized for its rich content of these valuable vitamins. For every possible precaution has been taken to retain in Blue Valley Butter these life-giving elements.

Professor Otto F. Hunziker, in the famous Blue Valley Research Laboratories, has devised many advanced scientific methods. These methods, together with careful selection and thorough pasteurization of all cream, have resulted in a butter of absolute safety and pronounced health qualities.

But try Blue Valley. Its delightful flavor will instantly win both you and your family. Sold only in triple-wrapped packages.

KIDNAPERS FREE CHILD IN CHASE BY POLICE

Mother Awakens and Sees Two Men Fleeing With Daughter, 8, at Clinton, Mo.

By the Associated Press.
CLINTON, Mo., Jan. 24.—Dalzell Schuyler, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norton Schuyler, was kidnaped by two men who fled with her in an automobile, then freed her as police gained on them in a chase through the residence district here early yesterday morning. The child was taken from her bed when Mrs. Schuyler turned on a light after she had been awakened by low voices in the room adjoining her bedroom. She saw two men leaving with her child.
Police were notified at once.
An hour later, as they sighted the kidnapers' car on a back street and gave chase, the child wandered into the lobby of a hotel and told the night clerk of her experience.
Family Formerly of St. Louis;
Child's Grandparents Live Here.
The Schuyler family moved to Clinton from St. Louis five years ago. Mrs. Schuyler was Miss Dorothy Livingston before her marriage to Schuyler who is manager of a coal company at Clinton. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James D. Livingston of 40 Kingsbury place.

Mrs. Livingston was informed in a long-distance telephone conversation with her daughter, that the grandchild apparently had been chloroformed, as her face was bruised and she fell asleep while relating her experience. The girl usually slept with her sister, Patricia, 4, but they were occupying different rooms at the time of the kidnaping.

The most famous drink of its kind in the world

... make the personal health test and find out why

... Find out why millions drink Postum every day, with every meal. Find out why these millions prefer Postum's flavor—why they consider Postum more satisfactory in every way than beverages containing the drug caffeine.

Originally, many of these enthusiastic users were just as skeptical of Postum's goodness as you perhaps are. Then they tried Postum—made a personal health test—and were convinced!

Here's the test!

They used Postum as their mealtime drink for thirty days, in place of caffeine beverages. They found that Postum offered all the enjoyment of other hot drinks—a rich, inviting aroma, a hearty, appetizing flavor all its own. They found that Postum, unlike caffeine beverages, never robbed them of a minute's sleep, never flustered their nerves, or caused headaches and indigestion.

At the end of the thirty days, these Postum
"skeptics" measured their physical gains —noted how much better they slept, how much better they felt. And then and there they outlawed caffeine from their diet—Postum became their mealtime drink for life!

Try it yourself!

This month new thousands will take this same easy step to better health. Be one of them! Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both are the same drink—made of roasted whole wheat and bran. Both have the delightful Postum flavor that millions prefer. Both cost much less than most other mealtime drinks.

BEN MILLERS TO PLAY CANADIANS IN NEXT ROUND

Contest in United States Challenge Cup Soccer Competition to Be Played Here Feb. 5.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The draw for second round matches in the Western division of the National soccer championship cup competition was made today by the Challenge Cup Committee.

Chicago still has five clubs remaining in the fight, while St. Louis has but one, three others falling by the wayside in the initial round.

The games to be played Feb. 4 or 5 will bring together:

At St. Louis, Ben Miller F. C. of St. Louis vs. Canadian S. C. of Chicago.

At Chicago, Bricklayers S. F. C. of Chicago vs. Buda A. A. F. C. of Harvey, Ill.

At Detroit, Holley Carburer F. C. of Detroit vs. Sparta A. and B. A. of Chicago.

At Cleveland, American Hungarian F. C. of Cleveland vs. Vienna S. C. of Chicago or Thistle F. C. of Chicago.

The Canadian club will prove no easy mark for the Millers in the coming game. The Chicago eleven qualified for the second round in the tournament proper, by eliminating the Tablers, St. Louis Soccer League leaders, 4 goals to 1 in a first round battle in the Windy City two weeks ago. In that contest, the Chicagoans completely outplayed the St. Louisans. The Canadians also have made fine records in games this season against the Spartas and Bricklayers, two of Chicago's best eleven.

The St. Louis Soccer League next Sunday will present to the Ben Millers gold footballs, emblematic of the championship which they won during the season of 1926-27. Winston Barker, president, announced today.

Sharkey Stands Pat on Refusal To Meet Risko

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—JACK SHARKEY will box Dempsey but no one else, it was announced this morning after a six-hour conference between Sharkey's manager, Johnny Buckley and Jess McMahon, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, in which an effort to match the Boston sailor with Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, was definitely turned down. Buckley told McMahon that Risko was through with eliminations of the type of the proposed Risko bout and in addition rejected the possibility of a fight with Jack Delaney. The bout with Risko was to have been held in New York on March 12.

McMahon at once dispatched a telegram to Tex Rickard in Miami, Fla., informing him of Sharkey's demand.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The heavyweight plot aimed at Gene Tunney's crown thickened today with a possibility of three champions at large in the event the present title-holder is not signed for the defense of his treasure by early summer.

Matching Jack Sharkey's challenge with the New York State Athletic Commission, Jack Delaney has issued a like deft at Tunney through the National Boxing Association, which has a membership in 24 states.

Delaney's challenge, however, according to his manager, Joe Jacobs, will be effective only on condition that Delaney knocks out Tom Heeny during their 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden on March 1.

The New York State Athletic Commission requires champions to fight at least once every six months and Tunney's period of idleness closes in March.

First Move by N. B. A. As for the National Boxing Association, this is the first time it has stepped into the affairs of the heavyweights. The body has accepted Delaney's challenge, Jacobs said.

Jacobs stated he would confer with Tom Donahue, president of the N. B. A. within a few days in respect to the time limit which would be imposed on Tunney to accept Delaney as a challenger in case the Bridgeporter sends Heeny down for the count.

"Delaney is in fine condition and is confident of picking a knockout wallop when he steps into the ring against Heeny," Jacobs said. "A knockout would make Delaney the logical challenger for Tunney without the formality of engaging the winner of the Sharkey-Risko battle."

Will Continue Program. Incidentally, Delaney's challenge with the N. B. A. is regarded as favorable to the interests of promoter Tex Rickard. Previously, Sharkey's challenge with the New York solons would compel Rickard to respect the rule of the Empire State body. Now, if Rickard should find it to his advantage to shift his heavyweight stage to another state, he could call on Delaney.

The Massachusetts Boxing Commission has a working agreement with the New York board. The N. B. A. jurisdiction includes Illinois which would permit Rickard to transfer his activities to Chicago if expedient.

In spite of the clamoring by Heeny's handlers that Delaney is running a risk of injuring his hands by his "right a week" program, Jacobs asserted the Bridgeporter would continue with the competition and announced two more bouts for Delaney in addition to his tilt with Battling Levinsky at Pittsburgh on Feb. 6. Delaney will tackle Leo Gates in Rochester on Feb. 13 and Jack McAuliffe II., of Detroit, in New Haven on Feb. 20.

St. Louis U. High Opposes C. B. C.

Tom Stanton's St. Louis U. High basketball team, leading the Preparatory League race with three straight victories, will meet Christian Brothers' High tonight in an important league game on the Junior Billiken's court. Starting time is 8:15 p. m.

The two teams are about evenly matched although C. B. C. has lost one game in four starts. The Brothers' quintet suffered its only defeat in a game with Western, which will play St. Louis this week. In another game tonight, McBride of the Preparatory League

What! Again?

"A NIXIOUS READER," No. 439,461 writes to inquire if

Dempsey was unfairly treated at Chicago and if Jack was ignorant of the rule requiring him to retire to the farthest corner, in even of a knockdown.

Paul Prehn, chairman of the Illinois Commission, will bat for us in answering this question, once more. He says:

"If Dempsey was ignorant of the rule" (requiring the fighter to retire to the far corner after knocking down his foe) "his official representative, Leo Flynn, is to blame. The afternoon of the fight, the two managers (Gibson and Flynn), six referees, including Dave Barry, and several judges gathered in the commission office. The commissioners thoroughly and completely informed all present as to the exact requirements of the fighters under knockdown conditions and all other features.

"If, therefore, Dempsey was not properly informed when he entered the ring, no one is to be blamed but Leo Flynn himself." Prehn cites the fact that Dempsey, in his Sharkey fight, walked to the farthest corner proving that he understood the requirement on that occasion. He considered it unlikely that Dempsey would forget, at Chicago, what he remembered at New York. He thinks Dempsey ducked into the corner near Tunney so as to be over his foe.

The Long Count.

PREHN, of the long count, says that he himself saw and the pictures later verified that Barry raised his hand with the intention of starting the count but that he let his arm fall and turned to Dempsey to make him obey the rule as to taking the right corner, before actually beginning the count.

It is entirely unlikely that Prehn's explanation will convert the thousands of those who observed or misobserved the fight in question. With the best equipment in the world, one man can see and interpret actions differently from his neighbor.

Prehn's statement, however, does make it clear that Dempsey had only himself or Flynn to blame, if he suffered in the incident.

The fact is, "Our Jack" forgets a lot of ring decorum in the heat of battle. His desire to massacre supercedes all other emotions. And of course, now and then, he has to pay.

He paid at Chicago.

and Cleveland, public high school team will meet in a practice contest on the McBride court. McBride defeated Cleveland in a previous game but the South Siders have shown steady improvement and are likely to prove more difficult in tonight's tilt.

NEW YORK MOVES TO MAKE BOXERS KEEP CONTRACTS

State Commission to Require $5000 Forfeit for Appearance of Fighters in Major Bouts.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The New York State Athletic Commission today decided that all boxers appearing in major bouts here must post a $5000 forfeit in the future to guarantee their appearance.

This step was taken, it was announced, to prevent any repetition of postponements such as the one which halted the first Jack Sharkey-Tom Heeny bout, scheduled originally for December.

Sharkey on that occasion pleaded that an injured hand made it impossible for him to go through with the match on the original date. The commission said today that it considered the postponement unnecessary and that the decision to demand posting of forfeit money for appearance was the result of that belief.

Today's action came after Charley Harvey, manager of Heeny, requested the commission to prevent Jack Delaney, retired king of the light heavyweights, from risking injury in any more fights prior to his battle with the New Zealand-er at Madison Square Garden, March 1.

The commission refused to interfere with Delaney's program. It said it would not require the $5000 forfeit would be required of both Heeny and Delaney.

The commission indefinitely sus-

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The Amateur Athletic Union today decided to grant permission for Dr. Otto Peltzer to run in the United States, stipulating that he comply with all customary regulations governing expense accounts, limit his engagements to three and appear in no exhibitions.

The Foreign Relations Committee, which reached this decision, also requested that one of Peltzer's appearances be in the national A. A. U. indoor championships at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 25. His other two engagements will be in the Millrose A. A. games, at the Garden, Feb. 2, and in a meet at Chicago, Feb. 10.

The committee sent a telegram to Dr. Peltzer outlining the conditions under which his appearances will be sanctioned.

It was explained that the committee as a whole frowned on the idea of arousing international rivalry in advance of the Olympics but yielded to numerous demands for the German star to make a limited number of American starts.

Peltzer's entry in the Millrose and Chicago meets already have been filed and he is expected to accept the stipulation that his third appearance be made in the A. A. U. title meet.

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, Jan. 24.—Three one-mile races and a jaunt of 1000 yards, all within a space of nine days, face Lloyd Hahn, middle distance running marvel of the Boston Athletic Association, in his indoor preparation for the Olympics.

The little Boston flier, who plans to run both the 800 and 1500-meter races at Amsterdam next summer, goes after his seventeenth consecutive victory on the track in the Butler 1000 at Newark, N. Victor Scores Seven Points in Last Two Innings to Overcome Early Margin Owned by Rival.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Allen Hall, the young St. Louis player, strengthened his hold on first place in the American Three-cushion League by defeating Willie Hoppe, Strand Academy, by the narrow margin of 50 to 48 at Doyle's Academy, last night. It was the most thrilling game of the series and it was not until Hall made his final point in the fifty-second inning that the game was decided.

It was the third straight victory for the young St. Louis player over the former headline king.

Trailing by seven points near the end of the game and apparently beaten, he came from behind, clinched off five cushions in the fifty-first inning and then brought the struggle to a close with a run of ten.

His best playing came in the fifty-first inning. All of his five shots were duffly except 4, one of them being a four-cushion bank shot that won the applause of the crowd.

Hall now has won 19 games and lost 6. Hoppe has won 18 and lost 7.

In the other games scheduled, Angle Knockbush beat Alfred de Oro at Doyle's Academy, 59 to 51, in 53 innings, and John Layton conquered Harry Wakefield at the Pe-teenth Street Academy, 59 to 47. Layton's high run was 5.

Hartnett Signs Contract.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Charles "Gabby" Hartnett, first string catcher of the Chicago Cubs, who has taken to his last winter to keep in condition, signed and sent in his 1928 contract yesterday.

Hartnett, who was always a handball fan, said he found the Spanish style game, with a wicker cone on his throwing hand, not quite so easy for a beginner.

Jones Thinks Practice Of Placing Furrows in Bunkers Hurts Golf

Bobby Says Game Is Weakened When the Element of Skill Is Eliminated From Any Necessary Phase of Play.

—By Bobby Jones

National Amateur, British Open and Southern Open Champion.
After the Open Championship at Oakmont there was a general explosion among newspapermen and contestants alike, concerning the furrows which had been carefully and diabolically raked in all the bunkers. This method of preparing a hazard for the unwary was rather an innovation at that time, although it had been used once before in 1915. Now it is alarmingly close to becoming a vogue on our championship courses.

I was afraid, after Oakmont, that any criticism I might make of the sand hazards there would be interpreted as an ill-natured grumbling against the course, because I had such a visible showing in the tournament. But they followed the bunkers at Oakmont, too, so I feel that I may now say something, which I believe to be for the good of the game, without fear of being misunderstood. Indeed, I have never conceived that playing conditions offered the least excuse to any man for his falling to win a championship, for the whole field has to play the same course at approximately the same time and no man deserves to win who cannot win under existing conditions, whatever they may be.

In writing this I have no wish to criticize anything or anyone unfairly, but I believe that the only way to promote the interests of golf as a competitive sport is to discuss openly and fairly the problems which arise in playing the game.

Bunker Shot Must Lose Stroke.
The idea behind the furrowed bunker, unless I am mistaken, is to encourage and reward a superlative excellence in the play through the green. The thought is, I am sure, that the man who drives straight and who plays his lens accurately would be doubly rewarded because his opponent, less accurate than himself, would be engulfed in trouble from which he could not even miraculously extricate himself. At Oakmont and at Minnikabka a shot into a bunker meant simply and positively a lost stroke unless a long putt happened to go down. There was no element of skill in bunker play which would avail.

The only fault in the theory is to be found in the regrettable circumstance that on even our best days we are all intensely human, and no matter how well we may play, we must make a few bad shots. And no matter how hard we may strive for perfection, we cannot eliminate from the game that part of it which is played within the confines of the sand-traps. It may be all well to determine that skill with the tee and fairway clubs is the highest type and that such skill should reap the greatest reward, but the fact remains that when the element of skill is eliminated from a necessary department of the game, the game itself is weakened by just so much. It would be just as reasonable for those who contend that the premium on putting is too great to enlarge the hole to a diameter of a couple of feet or more so that all would be equal on the green. The Oakmont furrows seemed to say, "Well, here you are in a bunker and it doesn't matter how good you are or how much nerve you have, the only thing you can do now is blast."

I should never care to argue for anything which would lessen the difficulty of the game, for its difficulty is its greatest charm, but when, in seeking to preserve the difficulty and to make scoring as hard as it was in the old days, in spite of the vast improvements in the ball, we make the mistake of destroying the effect of skill and judgment in an important department, I cannot help protesting.

SPEAKER STATES HE WILL NOT CUT HIS OWN SALARY

Asserts He Will Be Free Agent if Senators Do Not Send Him Contract by Feb. 1.

By the Associated Press.

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 24.—A winter of startling baseball events, bringing wholesale redistribution of many brilliant players now seems to offer new fields of speculation concerning Tris Speaker, who last year played center field for the Washington Senators.

The apparent tendency of baseball big business to rearrange its valuation on stars seems to have entered into the Speaker case, as it did with Ty Cobb, Rogers Hornsby, George Slater and others who have switched their affiliations, or had them switched, since last season closed.

Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington club, announced here yesterday that unless Speaker voluntarily reduced his own salary on or before Feb. 1, he would be given his unconditional release.

Griffith countered to this news with the opinion that if Speaker did not make the overtures suggested his chances of playing next season in a Washington uniform "were mighty slim."

The Washington owner declared that he told Speaker at the close of last season he could not again pay him his present salary. "I told him to go out and look for a job and that I would help him," he added. Montreal and Jersey City have made advances to Speaker regarding a man-of-war. Griffith said.

Speaker's Birmingham interview disclosed that he had no plans in regard to a minor league managerial role, although he did say the coming season would find him back in uniform somewhere.

"Until Feb. 1," he said, "I am the property of the Washington baseball club and am not at liberty to negotiate with any other club."

Sapp and Rossi Are Matched on Amateur Card
Will Meet in Third Feature Bout Tomorrow Night at Armory.

Charles Sapp, featherweight ace of the Motorbus club is matched with Lee Rossi, of the National A. A. in a third feature bout on the Motorbus amateur boxing card at the Armory tomorrow night. Sapp has only been fighting since last April, but has piled up an imposing string of victories, having won five of his last six battles. Rossi also has won his last five fights. Al Stillman, of the Motorbus club, junior middleweight champion of the Western A. A. U., is scheduled to meet Frank Powers, of the South Broadway A. C., senior club-member, in the main event. A lightweight classic will be staged between the Reagle Wood, finalist in the National A. A. U. tourney at Cincinnati last year, and Jake Gracick, of the East St. Louis Knights of Columbus, Western A. A. U. junior champion. Wood lost to Gracick in their three previous bouts, this being the fourth time these boys have entered the ring together in the past year.

A total of 24 entries in the preliminary classes has been received to date by George Wilkman, matchmaker for the club, which assures a well-filled program.

Kinkaid to Meet Martin.
Owing to an infected hand, Jack O'Keefe, local welterweight, who was to fight Lee Martin in the main event of the card at Wollaston on Jan. 21, will be unable to appear, and his place against Martin will be taken by Victor Kinkaid, former local amateur, matchmaker Billy Maloney announced last night.

The change is the second Maloney has had to make in his main event. Originally Paul Steadman was scheduled to meet Kid Lencha, but this bout was canceled when Steadman became ill.

CHAMINADE PLAYS WESTERN TOMORROW

The Western Military Academy basketball team will seek its third straight Preparatory League victory in a game with Chaminaide High on the latter's court tomorrow afternoon at 7:30 o'clock. Western will be a heavy favorite to win after its good showing of last week in beating the strong C. C. team, 25 to 24. The Cadets played an improved game against the Brothers' team after barely defeating Country Day in a previous game, 26-22. Chaminaide has lost three league games, tallying a 25-37 defeat by C. C. C.

WASHINGTON PARK WILL NOT OPERATE DURING SUMMER RACE SEASON

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—The improvement program at Washington Park, one of Chicago's premier race tracks, is so extensive that the park will not be prepared for the summer season, and its share of race dates probably will be divided between the Aurora, Arlington Park, Lincoln Fields and Hawthorne tracks.

Famous scalp treatment offered you on legal guarantee to grow new hair or costs nothing in 90 days' time or you pay nothing. New method acts to revive hair roots. Guarantee in writing furnished by your own dealer.

A NEW and radically different way in hair treatment has been discovered. A way that has proved effective 70% of the time, according to carefully kept records, in some 200,000 cases of falling hair and baldness tested last few years.

It is offered to you under absolute, written guarantee. You use it in your own home. If it fails to grow new hair—regardless of the present condition of your hair—in 90 days, or to stop falling hair completely, it will cost you nothing.

The guarantee is made because the public has, in the past, often been deceived by so-called hair growers. This relieves you of all risk. Your own dealer gives you a signed guarantee.

Revives hair roots formerly believed dead

Important new discoveries have been made. Discoveries that upset previous methods in hair treatment. It is now said that while 4 men in 7 are bald before 40, 91%—or over 9 in 10—are so needlessly.

It has been learned that hair roots seldom die from natural causes. Learned that often, even under almost total baldness, the hair roots still live. Consider what this means.

What it is

Now by means of a special, patented applicator (note illustration) the Van Ess way does what no other method does, what no other method has ever done: Massages powerful rejuvenating and germ-combating agents DIRECTLY TO THE ROOTS OF THE HAIR—germ-fighting agents which are an entirely new era in hair growing.

Thus this remarkable method revives and rejuvenates actual follicles (or roots) of the hair. No other hair treatment known to science, for home use, embodied that principle to make hair grow, the roots must be treated.

In the same application, it combats infection of the scalp (scalp oil) that forms on the surface of the scalp. The hair to which most falling hair and baldness now are traced, old-time methods failed in overcoming.

Absolutely guaranteed

The first application will prove coming results to you. You will feel new vigor, new vitality tingling through your scalp. In a short while falling hair will completely STOP. In 90 days or less, new hair will come—or your money back.

Go to any drug store—or to any dealer anywhere. Get a full 90-day treatment of Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage from whom you obtain it will supply you with a written guarantee to grow new hair in 90 days; to completely stop falling hair or your money back.

You alone will be the judge of results. There are no other guarantees. It is absolute. It protects you against

BISHOP URGES RURAL MISSIONARY WORK

Episcopal Church Likely Otherwise to Lose Ground He Tells Diocesan Session.

A plea for Episcopal missionary work in rural communities of Eastern Missouri was made by Bishop F. F. Johnson of the Episcopal diocese of Missouri, in his annual address this morning before the diocesan convention in St. Peter's Church, Spring avenue and Lindell boulevard.

Of the 64 counties in the diocese, Bishop Johnson said, 27 do not receive the ministrations of the Episcopal Church. The commun-cants in the diocese number 8,327, he said, of whom 7,633 are from St. Louis and environs. The remaining 1,294 are scattered among 26 counties.

Unless the Episcopal church undertook rural missionary work it was likely to lose ground, he said, because young persons were leaving the farm and the small towns, and unless they were members of an Episcopal congregation to begin with, they were likely to form other religious connections before reaching the city.

He recommended the appointment of a committee to investigate the possibilities of rural missionary work in the diocese and to deliver a detailed report. He also suggested that property be acquired in St. Louis with a view to the expansion of the church here.

Commenting on the Bishop Tuttle Memorial, now nearing completion, Bishop Tuttle praised the late Festus J. Wade, Catholic banker, for his aid in the enterprise and said the success of the memorial had been largely due to Wade's efforts. He paid tribute to the late Herbert S. Hadley in this connection also.

The convention opened with the celebration of holy communion in the church. The business session got under way after the service.

The convention will close tomorrow night.

7 Questions About Yeast—Answered for You

In the past year 435 different questions on Yeast were asked in letters to The Fleischmann Company. Seven of them were asked 1000 times each. Here are the correct answers, given by the medical advisers.

Q: What is Yeast? A: It is a plant—as fresh as any vegetable.
Each cake contains billions of these tiny, active plants.

Q: How does it work? A: Headaches, skin trouble, indigestion —such ailments usually come from an unhealthy intestine.
Yeast softens the intestinal wastes, stimulates the muscles.
Elimination becomes more regular, complete.

Q: What are the scientific facts behind Yeast for Health? A: In the past 30 years Yeast as a food for health has been the subject of research by 149 leading scientists and medical men. The foremost medical journals have published their findings. The value of Yeast as a therapeutic agent is now firmly established.

Q: Will Yeast make me fat? A: No. Any gain in weight will come from the other food you eat—not the Yeast. One Yeast cake contains fewer calories than a soda cracker.

Q: Does it cause gas? A: Yeast should not cause gas if eaten as directed. Where gas has formed it is usually because Yeast has been eaten at mealtime. For best results it should be eaten half an hour before meals, or between meals, and at bedtime. In this way, it increases the flow of gastric juice and so generally relieves the condition that causes gas.

Q: How long should I eat it? A: That depends on your condition. Most cases are helped in 3 or 4 weeks, but to give Yeast a fair trial you should eat it at least 60 days. Because it is a food, and not a medicine, it should of course be eaten regularly.

Q: How should it be eaten? A: Plain, or in hot or cold water or any other way you like. Eat 3 cakes daily, one before each meal or between meals. For stubborn constipation physicians say to drink it in hot water before each meal and at bedtime.

Boric Acid Good But Not Enough

We recommend Iris, America's Eye Bath, because we know it is such a vast improvement over the time honored eyewash of plain boric acid.

Iris contains camphor, menthol, witch-hazel, boric acid, and pure distilled spring water, all sterilized and put into sealed sterile flasks.

Iris does three definite things for you. It makes your eyes sparkle and look alive and vigorous. It cleanses the corners, the tear ducts and under the upper and lower eyelids. It relieves soreness and inflammation.

If you will try one bottle of Iris you will realize its virtues. All of our stores are instructed to refund your money if you are not thoroughly pleased. Both the 4c and the 9c size come complete with handy eyecup. Try Iris today.

CHICAGO REDISCOUNT RATE RAISED TO 4 PER CENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago will raise the rediscount rate from 3 1/2 to 4 per cent on all classes of loans beginning tomorrow, it was announced today by the Federal Reserve Board.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The rally in stock prices, having been under way for five consecutive days, showed signs of slowing up today, despite violent advances of five to 20 points in a few specialties. Pools, encouraged by the plentiful supply of funds available at 3 1/2 per cent, marked up more than a score of issues to their highest levels since 1926, or longer. The sharpest gains took place in the Express shares and other specialties in which there is a small floating supply.

The increase from 3 1/2 to 4 per cent in the rediscount rate of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, which was announced after the close of the market, took Wall Street by surprise, although the possibility of higher rediscount rates has been one of the reasons advanced by some of the conservative brokerage houses for recommending a lightening of long commitments. While speculative opinion is divided as to the effect of this action, it is generally conceded that it will have a sobering effect on speculative operations. It was recalled that some of the Chicago bank officials were opposed to a lowering of the rate last fall, which it was to have been forced upon them by the pressure of Federal Reserve authorities in Washington.

One likely effect of the higher Chicago rate is a reduction in the amount of funds sent into New York to be loaned on call. The heavy influx of out-of-town funds is reported to have been one of the contributory causes to the recent advance of the New York call money market. Other Western banks are expected to follow the lead of Chicago. Eastern banks are expected to maintain the 3 1/2 per cent rate for the present, barring a development of speculative excesses in the stock market. Directors of the New York Bank meet after the close of the market on Thursday.

Adams Express was the outstanding individual feature, soaring above the low level of the month. American Express jumped 15 points to 12 1/2, and closed at 18 1/2. American Railway Express climbed 15 1/2 points to 135, closing at 18 1/2. Air Reduction, American Machining & Foundry, Advance Rumors, preferred Gold Dust, Greene Canaries, Copper, Laclede Gas, National Surety, Rossia Insurance, Warren Bros., and Westinghouse Air Brake all advanced 4 to 10 points, many of them to new peak prices.

Save Arms, which has been dormant for some time, suddenly blazed into activity with a gain of 4 1/2 points at 6 1/2, influenced by reports of expanding earnings. Hup crossed 3 1/2 to a new peak on another turnover of more than 100,000 shares. General Motors Transactions also exceeded 100,000 shares, but the final price, 13 1/2, represented only a small fractional change.

U. S. Steel common touched a new high on the current recovery at 14 1/2, and then slipped below 14 1/2 for a small fractional recovery. Heavy accumulation of Ajax Rubber, which has been under way, carried the stock to a new high record at 14 1/2, the day's transactions exceeding 100,000 shares. Woolworth, General Electric, Houston Oil, Oil Well Supply and Rodent were heavy.

Time Money Unchanged.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged. A drop of nearly 15 points in Spanish pesos to 14.90 cents and a jump of 8 points in Japanese yen to 48.81 cents were the only changes of consequence in the foreign exchange market. Sterling cables were slightly firmer at $4.87 1/2-3/4. Commodity markets were reactionary. Cotton dropped about a 1/2 bale. Wheat futures sold a fraction of a cent a bushel on yield by Northern Plains. Corn fell 1/2 to 15 points and an easier undertone was reported in the sugar market.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The raw sugar market was unchanged today. Sales were confined to 200 bags of Cuban from store and 37,000 bags of Porto Rican for prompt shipment to local refiners at 4 1/2.

21 U. S. PRISONERS ESCAPE AT DETROIT

Dig Through Brick Wall of Jail—Accused of Violating Narcotic Law.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 24.—Twenty-one Federal prisoners escaped from the Elmwood branch of the Wayne County Jail early today by tunneling through a six-inch brick wall.

The escape was effected between 6 and 6:30 a. m. Deputy Sheriffs in charge of the prisoners had made their rounds at 5 a. m., when all was reported well. The escape was discovered at 6:30 o'clock and an alarm sounded.

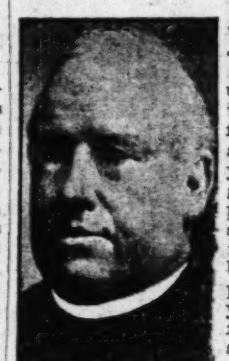

The 21 prisoners had been held awaiting trials on charges of violating the Federal narcotic laws. They had been transferred to the Elmwood jail, formerly a police station, from the main county jail, Saturday, because of overcrowded conditions. All were confined in the same cell. Four prisoners, held on similar charges, refused to join in the escape.

The wall through which the prisoners dug fronted on an alley. Officers said they believe the prisoners had outside assistance. Peter Schaefer, turnkey, said he learned from the prisoners who refused to escape that the digging through the wall began about 1 a. m. A plumbing fixture and pieces of buckets flattened out were used to dig the bricks loose out of the wall of a small shower bath room adjoining the big cell. The prisoners worked in relays, after placing dummies of clothing in their cell bunks to mislead guards making regular rounds.

Robert J. White, one of the prisoners, was recaptured this afternoon in a brick yard where, he said, he was waiting for a narcotic peddler.

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and their children, though Syrup Pepsin is highly valuable for elderly people. All stores have the generous bottles. We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can do to you and yours. Just write to us, "Monticello, Illinois," and we will send you prepaid a FREE 50 CENTS BOTTLE.

THE WAY —OF— A WOMAN

By Marguerite Moore Marshall

JUST LIKE A MAN.
A MAN, AIN'T D. Lanker, has just given $1,000,000
For research which will enable more people to grow old—
And somehow or other, to a woman, this magnificent gesture
seems just like a man.
Because a woman cannot understand why men are always so interested.

In GROWING OLD—
What a woman wishes is that someone would offer a million for scientific research
In GROWING YOUNG!
Ponce de Leon had the right idea!
Yet what did the wise men talk about most earnestly at the recent Race Betterment Conference?

They discussed the chances and the ways of mere prolongation of life—

"There is no known limit to what man's intelligence may effect
In the way of life lengthening," said Dr. Eugene Lyman Flak.

"He did not inherit a life cycle of 100 years."

"But he may well acquire it."
"Putting the world in the position of a man with a pension,
"who proverbially never dies,"
said Dr. Louis Fageres,
Bishop of Fordham University.

Dr. Alexis Carrel demurred that "death is the price we have to pay for possession of our brains."

But Dr. C. C. Little, president of the University of Michigan, surely spoke for women.

When he said, about this business of perpetually lengthening longevity—

"Why do it if we could?"
That is what the woman of today says, in her heart.

For what woman wants to outlive
All that makes life for her rich, beautiful, thrilling, amusing—
Her youth?

Oh, of course, she knows and we know that she keeps youth
As long as her heart and mind are young—

However old her hair and figure and complexion.

But—as the chap said about the dog that didn't bite—

"You know it and I know it, but does the dog know it?"

Women know, we know, that they can keep youth inside.
Whatever time does to their outside—

But do men know it?
The answer is that most men act as if they did not.

Therefore, though no one woman has yet given $1,000,000 for prolonging youth.

Many women give many millions,
every year.

To the beauty parlors, with their Fence de Leon pomades.

Women dye their hair, shave their bodies, have their faces lifted,
In their pathetic effort to stay
young.

While men are not only happily
gray and fat and wrinkled,
But are eager to live more years
In that condition!

Every such man says that the feminine youth-hunter is a fool—
If he himself were not such an ardent feminine youth-hunter.

Elderly women wouldn't agonize over being young!

"Better 50 years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay," argued Tenny-son.

"Better 50 years of youth than a cycle of old age," argue women—
Whether you like it or not,
That's the way they feel!

DAYS.
Each day's dusty mot that gleams
An instant in the sun,
A golden gift of God it seems Until its dance is done.

But when Time with relentless broom Sweeps the eternal floor,
Perhaps one day, within the gloom,
Shall glitter evermore!

HENRY REICH JR.
HAIL AND FAREWELL.

THOMAS HARDY is dead; great novelist, great poet and—as women must always remember him—author of that greatly sympathetic and revealing analysis of a woman's tragedy, "Tess of the D'Urbervilles." In the last edition of his "Collected Poems" he wrote his own epitaph. Here it is:

"I never cared for life! Life cared for me,
And hence I owed it some fidelity.
It now says, 'Come; at length thou hast learned to grind.
Sufficient toll for an unwilling mind,
And I dismiss thee—not without regard.
That thou didst ask no ill advised reward,
Nor sought in me much more than thou couldst find."

And it is with a characteristic gesture of gentle irony that Thomas Hardy passes on the torch to an impatient and omniscient younger generation:

"And ye, red-lipped and smooth-browed, lie,
Gentlemen!
Much is there waits you we have missed;
Much love we leave you worth the knowing.
Much, much has lain outside our ken.
Nay, rush not; time serves; we are going."

Gentlemen!

Paris Chorus Girls Must Go to School

PARIS chorus girls, school-trained, have been directed by the directors of music halls, the Union and the girls' chorus, to sound the knell of the chorus girls' era. The girls' chorus girls, the "Paris Chorus Girls," and other similar groups, that have delighted the stage for years.

French dancers, trained in the usual haphazard way of the girls, could not compete with the highly trained chorus girls. Hence there has been much employment and salaries small. The new school, however, process of organization, will be thorough training in dancing, and modern, comic, and dancing. Future application of the chorus girls, say the chorus directors, must have the course.

Costs of the training, borne by the managers, and actors union, and it is hoped there will be enough funds to pay the pupils a small stipend while they are at the school. The first graduates are expected to receive their diplomas to take part in the big chorus next year.

When the children are on the piano, a 10-cent ribbon is placed under the piano and piano and save war on the rug and marks on the wood floor.

Knees Not Being Pretty, Paris Insists That They Be Covered, But Directrix Makes Concessions to the Sports Influence While Trying to Feminize It.

By MME. CHARLOTTE.

PARIS
It seems a paradoxical thing to do when we are all emphasizing the importance of the afternoon dress and trying to persuade women to see the beauty of the new feminine tendencies in fashion. I am going to open a special sports department in the Place Vendôme. Premet sports clothes have so far been rather of the halcyon type that is chic on the Riviera, at Palm Beach, at Deauville and at Biarritz. Now I am going to show really practical and workmanlike sports clothes, suitable for the tennis champion and the golfing woman with a plus handicap. Winter sports clothes will play an important part in the new collection that may be shown to Paris before these lines are printed. There will be a great many sporty garments, made of both English and French fabrics, which are reserved exclusively for the house of Premet and cannot be obtained anywhere else.

This is Shocking.

What really shocks, however, is to see a woman dining in a restaurant in the clothes she has worn all day. You may say this does not happen in Paris. Believe me, during the past few seasons it has not been at all uncommon. Women fancied they looked their best in the simplest sports suits, and they wore them, morning, noon and night, except in the ballroom.

Nobody minds how simply a woman dresses if that is the style that suits her best. What we do not like in Paris is the idea of not changing one's clothes during the whole day. It is not so simple. It suggests bad grooming. It is unfeminine. It suppresses variety and charm.

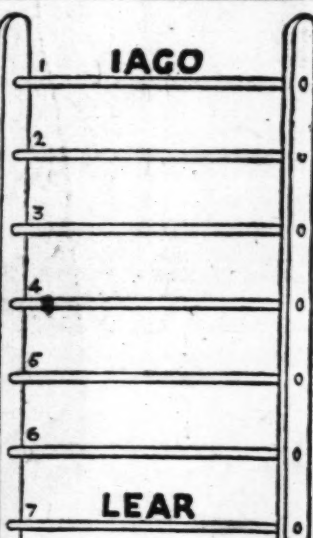

But as women have the sports tendency so firmly rooted in their minds, it is difficult to persuade them to adopt anything more elaborate. Now we dressmakers feel that our talents are wasted in the continual invention of sweaters and skirts with just a trifle of variety in the embroidery or coloring. If women do not want charming afternoon gowns and evening dresses the world will soon be like a garden without flowers. We cannot allow this. Women would be the first to regret it if they achieved it, for women love clothes, whatever style they adopt. In order to meet the situation I am designing afternoon frocks that are as easy to wear as sports clothes, while having something of the intricate cut and fine workmanship that are the hallmarks of anything that comes from a great house.

Look at the illustrations on this page. What could be simpler and more easy to wear than the frock in old rose crepe de chine? The silhouette is as simple as anything could be. A corsage with an absolutely unbroken line, blossomed slightly over a perfectly straight skirt. Yet look at the complicated cut of the corsage. The overlapping layers, all plain surface decoration, that are outlined with self-colored stitching. The little motifs round the skirt and at the cuffs and throat are of inset pieces of silk, stitched with the same plain embroidery. That is what I call elaborate simplicity. That is what is replacing the sports frocks in the afternoon in Paris.

Anybody can make a straight jumper and skirt. Only the best designers and fitters can achieve a simple little dress like the one I have just described. And, as first-class houses do not pretend to cater to people with general store incomes, we like to give them something that shows the best workmanship for the price they pay.

Then glance at the navy blue sport frock with a scarf of blue and gray plaid taffeta threaded through slots in the gown. The Comme des Muses has shown you how simply it holds the figure. Yet imagine the effect of that dress if the scarf were not put in just the right place! Half an inch makes all the difference. If you saw creative designers at work in their studios you would realize what an infinite amount of care and study is expended on the perfecting of every detail. We do not count the cost. We aim at producing the best we LADDERGRAM Registered U. S. Patent Office Climb Down!

Shakespeare himself never tried this one, which is really easy. A good actor can be Iago one night and Lear the next, but any Laddergrammer can change from one to the other by climbing down these magic rungs. The way to do it is to find a new word for each downward step which differs from the one above it by a single letter. Don't rearrange the order of the other letters, and keep away from trick words—they don't belong in a solution you can boast about. Incidentally, we stump you to reach Lear by a shorter route than the one we print tomorrow. Was your solution to Bell-Hops about like this: 1, Bell; 2, Bell; 3, Bell; 4, Bell; 5, Hope; 6, Hope.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST By Aline Michaelis

NINETEEN-TWENTY-EIGHT.

New Year's madness,
Merriment and mirth;
Laughter ringing,
Fresh hopes springing
Round the spinning earth!

Soft snow falling,
Gay bells calling,
North wind at the door;
New Year brings us
Joys and flings us
Hopes, as years before.

Some tomorrows
Must bring sorrows,
As through years before;
But hope, lying,
Tells us sighing,
Soon will be no more.

So we capture
Life's old rapture
And, with hearts elate,
Give glad greeting
Now at meeting
Nineteen-twenty-eight!

Children's Bedtime Story By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Billy Mink Thinks Quickly

Who wisely acts in time of need
Is quick in thought and quick in deed.

—Old Mother Nature.

THAT little verse applies perfectly to Billy Mink. He thinks quickly and he acts quickly. Few of the little people in the Green Forest and the Green Meadows think more quickly or act more quickly. Like his little cousin, Shadow the Weasel, Billy seldom knows fear. There are a number of people whom Billy would not dare meet in open fight. There are several who would not hesitate to seize him as he would seize Whitefoot the Wood Mouse. But Billy isn't afraid of them in the way that other little people are afraid of him. You see, he has supreme faith in his ability to escape them.

But there was something very like fear filling Billy's heart as he raced through the Green Forest with his big cousin, Spite the Marten, hot on his trail. He knew that here he had an enemy who could act as quickly as he could. It would be almost impossible to outdo Spite. Had the Laughing Brook been near Billy would have had no fear. But the Laughing Brook wasn't near, and Billy began to doubt his ability to get there before he should be overtaken by Spite the Marten. In fact, Billy was getting badly worried when he came to some very peculiar tracks in the snow. Now, Billy had been along that way that morning and those tracks had not been there. He knew that they had been made only a few moments before, and he knew who had made them. No one else could leave such a trail as that. Another of his cousins had been along there, little Joe Otter.

Billy didn't hesitate a second. He turned like a flash and ran swiftly along the trail.

"If only I can catch up with little Joe," thought Billy, "I'll fool Spite."

So Billy ran faster than ever, if that were possible. Glancing back, he saw that Spite was following. Not only was he following, but he was gaining. Anxiously he looked ahead. He couldn't see little Joe Otter. "Oh!" thought Billy, "I do hope he isn't too far! I must catch up with him! I must catch up with him!"

And then, as Billy dodged around a stump, he all but ran into little Joe. Yes, he all but ran into little Joe Otter. My goodness, you should have seen Billy dodge! He dodged and, without even saying "Excuse me, please," darted under an old pile of brush out the other side and started for the Laughing Brook as fast as he could go. Yes.

Paris Goes to Zoo For Fashion Fads

PARIS could recruit a zoo from the animals that inspired this season's accessories. Owls are the newest arrival. They are used as motifs for big shoe buckles of rhinestones and their eyes are made of topaz. Turtles, cranes, penguins, monkeys and little pigs come in for their share of popularity in the shape of shoulder brooches, good luck bangles, handbags and stuffed mascots.

Interested than ever, When he discovered that Spite was hunting Billy Mink, Blacky flew along overhead and was most excited, for, of course, it was a most exciting race.

"Billy Mink never will get away in the world this time," said Blacky.

And it was just then that Billy almost ran into little Joe Otter.

Kitchen Logic

Maple syrup is mighty good on apple dumplings.

In winter time it is wise to warm the flour before mixing the bread.

A pinch of soda in the water when cooking string beans will make them very tender and a bright green.

Flavoring extracts should always be added to puddings, candy, etc., after they are removed from the fire to get the full strength of the extract.

A bottle of home-made chocolate syrup is convenient to have on hand for making milk shakes, cocoa and sauce for puddings and ice cream.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE

THE STORY TOLD EARLIER

The key to the closet door was always kept on the outside, Margaret Odell's maid told police the morning her mistress' strangled body was found in the apartment. But this day the key was on the inside. The "Canary" had gone out early in the evening with a man. The next morning when the maid came to work Margaret Odell was dead. A baffling mystery, Van Dine declares, a devilish one—Ann Markham, those finger-prints you found have nothing whatever to do with the murder.

CHAPTER VIII

HEATH shot Vance a curious look. Then, after a moment's frowning contemplation of the knob, he waved his hand to the detective who had brought the maid in.

"Take her back to the reception room, Snitkin, and get a detailed description from her of all the Odell jewelry. . . . And keep her outside; I'll want her again. When Snitkin and the maid had gone out, Vance lay back lazily on the davenport, where he had sat during the interview, and sent a spiral of cigarette smoke toward the ceiling.

"Rather illuminating," what? he remarked. "The dusky demagogue got us considerably rattled. Now we know that the clock key is on the wrong side of the door, and that our lady of joy went to the theater with one of her favorite lovers, who presumably brought her home shortly before she took her departure from this wicked world."

"You think that's helpful, do you?" Heath's tone was contemptuously triumphant. "Wait till you hear the crazy story the telephone operator's got to tell."

"All right, Sergeant," put in Markham impatiently. "Suppose we get on with it, please."

"I'm going to suggest, Mr. Markham, that we question the janitor first. And I'll show you why." Heath went to the entrance door of the apartment, and opened it. "Look here for just a minute, sir."

He stepped out into the main hall, and pointed down the little passageway on the left. It was about ten feet in length, and ran between the Odell apartment and the blank rear wall of the reception room. At the end of it was a solid oak door which gave on to the court at the side of the house.

"That door," explained Heath, "is the only side or rear entrance to this building; and when that door is bolted nobody can get into the house except by the front entrance. You can't even get into the building through the other apartments, for every window on this floor is barred. I checked up on that point as soon as I got here."

He led the way back into the living-room.

"Now, after I'd looked over the situation this morning," he went on, "I figured that our man had entered through that side door at the end of the passageway and had slipped into this apartment without the night operator seeing him. So I tried the side door to see if it was open. But it was bolted on the inside—not locked, mind you, but bolted."

"And it wasn't a slip-bolt, either, that could have been jimmied or worked open from the outside, but a tough old-fashioned turn-bolt of solid brass. . . . And now I want you to hear what the janitor's got to say about it."

Markham nodded acquiescence and Heath called an order to one of the officers in the hall. A moment later a stout, middle-aged man, with sullen features and high cheek-bones, stood before him. His jaw was clamped tight, and he shifted his eyes from one to the other of us suspiciously.

Heath straightway assumed the role of inquisitor.

"What time do you leave here at night?" he had, for some reason, assumed a belligerent manner.

"Six o'clock—sometimes earlier, sometimes later." The man spoke in a sullen monotone. He was obviously resentful at this unexpected intrusion upon his orderly routine.

"And what time do you get here in the morning?"

"Eight o'clock, regular."

"What time did you go home last night?"

"About six—maybe quarter past. Heath paused and finally lighted the cigar on which he had been chewing at intervals during the past hour.

"Now, tell me about that side door—he went on, with undiminished aggressiveness. "You told me you lock it every night before you leave—is that right?"

"That's that's right. The man nodded his head affirmatively several times. "Only I don't lock it—I bolt it."

"All right, you bolt it, then." As Heath talked his cigar bobbed up and down between his lips, smoke and words came simultaneously from his mouth. "And last night you bolted it as usual about six o'clock?"

"Maybe a quarter past," the janitor amended, with Germanic precision.

"You're sure you bolted it last night?" The question was almost ferocious.

"Ja, ja. Sure, I am. I do it every night. I never miss."

The man's earnestness left no doubt that the door in question had indeed been bolted on the inside at about six o'clock at the previous evening. Heath, however, belabored the point for several minutes, only to be reassured doggedly that the door had been bolted. At last the janitor was dismissed.

"Really, you know, Sergeant," remarked Vance with an unhesitating smile, "that honest Rheinlander bolted the door."

"Sure, he did," spluttered Heath; "and I found it still bolted this morning at quarter of eight. That's just what messes things up so nice and pretty. If that door was bolted from six o'clock last evening until eight this morning, I'd appreciate having some one drive up in a home and tell me how the Canary's little playmate got in here last night. And I'd also like to know how he got out."

"Why not through the main entrance?" asked Markham. "It seems the only logical way left, according to your own findings."

"That's how I had it figured out, sir," returned Heath. "But wait till you hear what the phone operator has to say."

"And the phone operator's post," mused Vance, "is in the main hall, half way between the front door and this apartment. Therefore, the gentleman who caused all the disturbance hereabouts last night would have had to pass within a few feet of the operator both on arriving and departing—eh, what?"

"That's it!" snapped Heath. "And, according to the operator, no such person came or went."

Markham seemed to have absorbed some of Heath's irritability. "Get the fellow in here, and let me question him," he ordered. Heath obeyed with a kind of malicious glee.

(Tuesday, Sept. 11, 11 a. m.)

Jessup made a good impression from the moment he entered the room. He was a serious, determined-looking man in his early thirties, rugged and well built; and there was a suggestion of military training. He walked with a decided limp—his right foot dragged perceptibly—and I noted that his left arm had been stiffened into a permanent arc, as if by an unrecalled fracture of the elbow.

He was quiet and reserved, and his eyes were steady and intelligent. Markham at once motioned him to a wicker chair beside the closet door, but he declined it, and stood before the District Attorney in a solidly respectful attitude of respectful attention.

Markham opened the interrogation with several personal questions. It transpired that Jessup had been a Sergeant in the World War, but had twice been seriously wounded, and had been discharged home shortly before the armistice. He had held his present post of telephone operator for over a year.

"Now, Jessup," continued Markham, "there are things connected with last night's tragedy that you can tell us."

"Yes, sir." There was no doubt that this ex-soldier would tell accurately anything he knew, and also that, if he had any doubt as to the correctness of his information, he would frankly say so. He possessed all the qualities of a careful and well-trained witness.

"First of all, what time did you come on duty last night?"

"At 10 o'clock, sir." There was no qualification to this blunt statement; one felt that Jessup would arrive punctually at whatever hour he was due. "It was my short shift. The day man and myself alternate in long and short shifts."

"And did you see Miss Odell come in last night after the 'yes'?"

"Yes, sir. Every one who comes in has to pass the switchboard."

"What time did she arrive?"

"It couldn't have been more than a few minutes after eleven."

"Was she alone?"

"No, sir. There was a gentleman with her."

"Do you know who he was?"

"I don't know his name, sir. But I have seen him called several times before when he has called on Miss Odell."

"You could describe him, I suppose."

"Yes, sir. He's tall and clean-shaven except for a very short gray mustache, and is about forty-five, I should say. He looks like a man of wealth and position."

Markham nodded. "And now, tell me; did he accompany Miss Odell into her apartment, or did he go immediately away?"

"His full name was William Elmer Jessup, and he had been attached to the 308th Infantry of the 77th Division of the Overseas Forces."

FAMOUS LOVE ROMANCES

By Nicholas Afonsky

Cleopatra (II)

Caesar, at this time slightly past fifty, was charmed with the high-spirited young Egyptian queen, Cleopatra. Master of the Roman world as he was, he was quickly captivated to her, and after listening to her all-night story, he sent, about dawn, for his brother Ptolemy, who had seized the throne for himself.

Caesar upbraided Ptolemy, and pledged his support to Cleopatra. Ptolemy's backers put Caesar's palace under a virtual siege, and the Egyptian queen and her Roman protector spent the winter there. They soon effected a union with each other, which was considered honorable in Egypt, and spent their time in pleasure.

It is said that Caesar often was forced to stay awake through the night to protect himself against assassination; and once, when the besiegers were poisoning the water supply for the palace, Caesar was forced to sink new wells within the besieged territory for a safe water supply for himself and Cleopatra.

Finally Caesar conquered the besiegers, and in March 47 B. C., entered Alexandria in triumph through its opened gates. The inhabitants of the city, dressed in mourning, begged for mercy and declared their submission. In the palace where they had passed the winter together Caesar was received by Cleopatra.

Develop Shapely Contours

By Anne Jordan.

A FAMOUS visiting foreigner referred to all of us ladies in the United States as "those flat-chested American women." As if our cute little boyish silhouettes were not much more attractive than those deep-chested females of a past generation! I suppose he expected us to look like ladies on these funny cheap postcards that you can still buy at the dime store.

"My Thoughts Fondly Return to You," you've seen these postcards, haven't you?

Of course you can be hollow-chested instead of firmly flat, and that's just too bad. That looks unhealthy as well as unattractive. What every woman should strive for is a good strong expandable chest, and a firmly outlined bust that isn't over-developed. With a few simple exercises every woman can be correctly proportioned through the upper part of the body.

And as usual with exercises, the same one is given for building up as for reducing. This is the exercise for the chest and bust.

Place each hand on the hips, then swing the elbows around toward the front as far as possible. Strange to say, this catches at muscles across the chest, instead of in the arms. When you have brought the elbows as far forward as possible, swing them back suddenly, and start over. Do this at least 20 times a day after you have gotten used to it.

Another good developing exercise for the upper part of your diaphragm is the dumb-bell exercise. Grasping the dumb-bells firmly in each hand, bring the arms up until the hands are firmly against the chest, elbows out at each side just a little lower than the shoulder blades. Then fling the arms out to each side, and bring them back again.

Next, hold the dumb-bells on top of each shoulder, and fling one arm at a time as high over the head as possible. The swifter these exercises are taken, the more good they do. As you become used to this last one, reverse the arms; when one comes back to the shoulder, raise the other arm into the air over the head. Then work the dumb-bells out toward the front, and an upward swing back to a location at rest in front of the chest.

In addition to these exercises women who desire to develop the bust should also try massage, using cocoa butter, and an upward swinging movement of the fingers flat against the skin. An important feature also is to see that a brassiere fits correctly. A brassiere that fits properly is of great importance.

MEXICO JOINS ARGENTINA IN DENOUNCING
HIGH TARIFF

Delegate Asks That Havana Congress and Pan-American Union Be Empowered to Act.

COURT OF JUSTICE
PLAN DISAPPROVED

Hughes Puts Dampers on Discussion of Proposal; Criticism of His Aviation Amendments.

By the Associated Press.
HAVANA, Jan. 23.—Mexico today aligned herself with Argentina in asking that this Pan-American Conference and the Pan-American Union at Washington be empowered to investigate means to reduce, if not abolish, high tariff walls in inter-American commerce.

Salvador Urbina, Mexican representative on the Committee on Pan-American Union Affairs, declared that his country agreed in all its points with the speech Honorable Puyredon, head of the Argentine delegation, delivered before the committee on Monday. In which, in addition to denouncing excessive tariffs, he also decried the fixing of schedules on the principle of equality in the cost of production as unscientific and most dangerous for Pan-American relations.

Senior Urbina lamented that the real fundamental economic problems facing the new world do not appear on the agenda of the new conference. "How can Pan-Americanism succeed," he asked, "when economic factors which are most fundamental in the relations between countries are ignored?"

"Check on Unusual Avarice." "One of the most primary concerns of the Pan-American conference," said Senior Urbina, "should be means to check unusual avarice which is working to the detriment of the economic life of the people."

He added that feelings of economic union are the sacred bonds of peace between countries, and asserted that all statesmen who ignore economic factors are leading their countries astray.

"Economic factors are the golden key to the realization of Pan-Americanism," he continued, "and this will never be realized if the problems of customs and other barriers to the free economic development of American countries are not carefully considered."

The Mexican delegate arose in the committee meeting to defend his country's proposal for the reorganization of the Pan-American Union, whereby the chairmanship of the governing board and the director generalship may be rotated alphabetically among all the constituting countries. Paying high tributes to Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director-general, and the American secretary of State, who presided over the board, Senior Urbina emphasized that his plan was not an effort to "throw out" either Dr. Rowe or Secretary Kellogg, but merely a plan to "democratize" the union, so that the union will be a faithful mirror of its constituting democracies.

Barrier to Progress.
The delay in the reorganization of the union was forecast today by delegates to the conference as a result of the announcement of the Argentine position on the tariff. Dr. Puyredon announced his position that did not incorporate the duties of the Union those of trading ways and means to reduce duties. He also insisted upon agricultural and sanitary quarantine as other subjects for super-

The attitude of the United States is stated to be that it is desirable to convert the Union into a political entity charged with carrying out political duties and investigations, which, in many cases, would run counter to constitutional provisions or internal legislation of the countries in the union.

The attitude of the American delegation regarding reorganization of the union is authoritatively stated as being conciliatory in the extreme as long as it is proposed to maintain the union as a non-political body of international cooperation and intellectual relations entrusted chiefly with the duty of fostering Pan-American understanding.

Independent Court Project.
Resolution seeking the creation of a permanent conciliation and arbitration court independent of the union was also discussed on Page 3, Column 3.

HAVANA, Jan. 23.—Mexico today aligned herself with Argentina in asking that this Pan-American Conference and the Pan-American Union at Washington be empowered to investigate means to reduce, if not abolish, high tariff walls in inter-American commerce.

Salvador Urbina, Mexican representative on the Committee on Pan-American Union Affairs, declared that his country agreed in all its points with the speech Honorable Puyredon, head of the Argentine delegation, delivered before the committee on Monday. In which, in addition to denouncing excessive tariffs, he also decried the fixing of schedules on the principle of equality in the cost of production as unscientific and most dangerous for Pan-American relations.

Senior Urbina lamented that the real fundamental economic problems facing the new world do not appear on the agenda of the new conference. "How can Pan-Americanism succeed," he asked, "when economic factors which are most fundamental in the relations between countries are ignored?"

"Check on Unusual Avarice." "One of the most primary concerns of the Pan-American conference," said Senior Urbina, "should be means to check unusual avarice which is working to the detriment of the economic life of the people."

He added that feelings of economic union are the sacred bonds of peace between countries, and asserted that all statesmen who ignore economic factors are leading their countries astray.

"Economic factors are the golden key to the realization of Pan-Americanism," he continued, "and this will never be realized if the problems of customs and other barriers to the free economic development of American countries are not carefully considered."

The Mexican delegate arose in the committee meeting to defend his country's proposal for the reorganization of the Pan-American Union, whereby the chairmanship of the governing board and the director generalship may be rotated alphabetically among all the constituting countries. Paying high tributes to Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director-general, and the American secretary of State, who presided over the board, Senior Urbina emphasized that his plan was not an effort to "throw out" either Dr. Rowe or Secretary Kellogg, but merely a plan to "democratize" the union, so that the union will be a faithful mirror of its constituting democracies.

Barrier to Progress.
The delay in the reorganization of the union was forecast today by delegates to the conference as a result of the announcement of the Argentine position on the tariff. Dr. Puyredon announced his position that did not incorporate the duties of the Union those of trading ways and means to reduce duties. He also insisted upon agricultural and sanitary quarantine as other subjects for super-

The attitude of the United States is stated to be that it is desirable to convert the Union into a political entity charged with carrying out political duties and investigations, which, in many cases, would run counter to constitutional provisions or internal legislation of the countries in the union.

The attitude of the American delegation regarding reorganization of the union is authoritatively stated as being conciliatory in the extreme as long as it is proposed to maintain the union as a non-political body of international cooperation and intellectual relations entrusted chiefly with the duty of fostering Pan-American understanding.

Independent Court Project.
Resolution seeking the creation of a permanent conciliation and arbitration court independent of the union was also discussed on Page 3, Column 3.
